Ford Promises Peace-Seeking Plan In Month

SALZBURG, Austria (AP) — President Ford concluded summit talks with Egypt's Anwar Sadat today and said he would unveil a Middle East peace-seeking formula within the next month.

Appearing before reporters with the Egyptian president, Ford talked optimistically about prospects for a Middle East peace "in the interests of all parties."

Ford said he has yet to make "final judgments" on the peace-seeking formula.

"We have not made any decisions as to the next step," Ford said in response to a question. "There are, of course, a number of alternatives. It is premature ... to indicate in any way whatsoever that a decision has been made."

Speaking in English, Sadat said he will return to Cairo to confer with his associates on approaches to peace, adding, "I shall be always in contact with President Ford," whom he invited to visit Egypt.

Sadat, appearing in an open palace courtyard with Ford to make statements and respond to a handful of questions, termed the President a "peace struggler" and said the big achievement of the summit was to establish a personal relationship with the American leader.

As Ford and Sadat spoke, Israeli Premier Yitzhak Rabin announced in Jerusalem that Israel is reducing its tanks, firepower and troop strength along the Suez Canal as a gesture of peace toward Egypt for the reopening of the waterway.

Rabin said half of Israel's tanks in the front line zone would withdraw to at least 18 miles from the canal, and all artillery pieces would be pulled back to 19 miles from the shipping channel.

All missiles except antitank missiles will be moved behind a line 24 miles from the canal, Rabin said, and 3,500 men — half Israel's front line troops — will withdraw from the limited arms region east of the United Nations buffer zone.

"The government of Israel considers the renewal of international shipping as an important and constructive development," Rabin said of the scheduled opening of the canal on Thursday. He said the reduction of Israel's front line troops by half is intended to contribute to the "relaxation of military tension in the area."

The Israelis previously said reopening of the waterway was in Egypt's self-interest and did not oblige Israel to redouble with a peaceful gesture. Egypt also is on record as saying it would bar Israeli ships and cargo from the canal on grounds the two states technically are still at war.

Sadat was particularly animated as he and Ford posed for photos at the start of the Salzburg meeting. Ford seemed more serious, smiling faintly from time to time while Sadat grinned broadly.

Their sessions had been described as "very warm, very friendly" although cloaked in secrecy.

"We have agreed not to divulge any of the substantive details," said Tasheen Bashir, the Egyptian president's spokesman, Sunday night after the first day of the two-day meeting.

Undersecretary of State Joseph V. Sisco was similarly tight-lipped and reported, "We have drawn no conclusions, we have made no final judgments" on the best way to proceed with the search for peace, seemingly stalemated since March.

American sources have indicated Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger hoped to revive the step-by-step approach to Middle East negotiations.

Egyptian sources suggested an "ideal solution" would be a negotiated Israeli pullback in the Sinai Desert followed by a withdrawal on the Golan Heights. These well-placed sources said the pullback and withdrawal should be followed by a Geneva peace conference.

Sadat took a hard line in public remarks at lunch Sunday. He said belligerency will end only if Israel recognizes that it cannot acquire territory by force and that the Palestinians have the right "to live in

SOME LOCAL 'SHOWERS' LIKELY

Economic Weather Looms Fair

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — If you're a barometer tapper you probably understand the wariness of Americans when they learn that the index of leading indicators is pointing its arrow toward better economic times.

Barometer readers usually have had the experience of seeing the needle rising strongly through the fair weather section, only to find themselves doused in local showers shortly thereafter.

It's the same with the indicator index, which has taken a decided upward turn. In general, this means you can expect a broad upturn in economic activity over the next few months, and maybe longer.

Skilled readers know, however, that they are specific people living in specific areas doing specific jobs — and that, therefore, the generality might not apply to them. They fear those local showers.

Sure, they say, the needle is pointing upward, but is it pointing at me? They note that the President's own advisers now are looking for a jobless rate of about 7.9 per cent in 1976, which is more than double the rate of 1939. They note also that the administration fears that joblessness could remain as high as 7.2 per cent in 1977, and that it might not get down to 5 per cent until 1980.

The job situation remains therefore one of the major disappointments of modern economic life. Less than a decade ago we sought to limit unemployment to less than 4 per cent. We've given up the effort now.

The index has some "good" news about prices too, but good is relative. If it's been raining a torrent for days on end, and your house is flooded, you'll consider it very good news indeed if the weather improves to a drizzle.

The administration's forecasters expect prices this year will average 9.1 per cent over those of 1974, which is a decided improvement over the February estimate of more than 11 per cent. But the rain continues. The Consumer Price Index in 1977 is expected to be rising at a 5 per cent rate, which is a rate we considered unacceptable just a decade ago. By the end of the decade it is projected at a 4 per cent rate.

The weather really is improving, therefore, but the sunshine is a long way off. Moreover, those figures suggest strongly that a lot of people are going to be caught in the residual showers.

Fight To Save 6 In Capsized Oil Rig

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Divers pumped air into the submerged compartments of a capsized oil rig in the Gulf of Mexico today in the hope six men believed trapped inside were alive.

"We've heard nothing, no sound, nothing," said a spokesman for Progress Marine, the rig operators.

Four to six divers with floodlights worked throughout the night unsuccessfully trying to enter the compartments, the spokesman said.

The Coast Guard quoted the captain of the rig as saying the crew quarters were nearly airtight and he believed the men may still be alive. However, rescuers said they heard no noise from within the quarters.

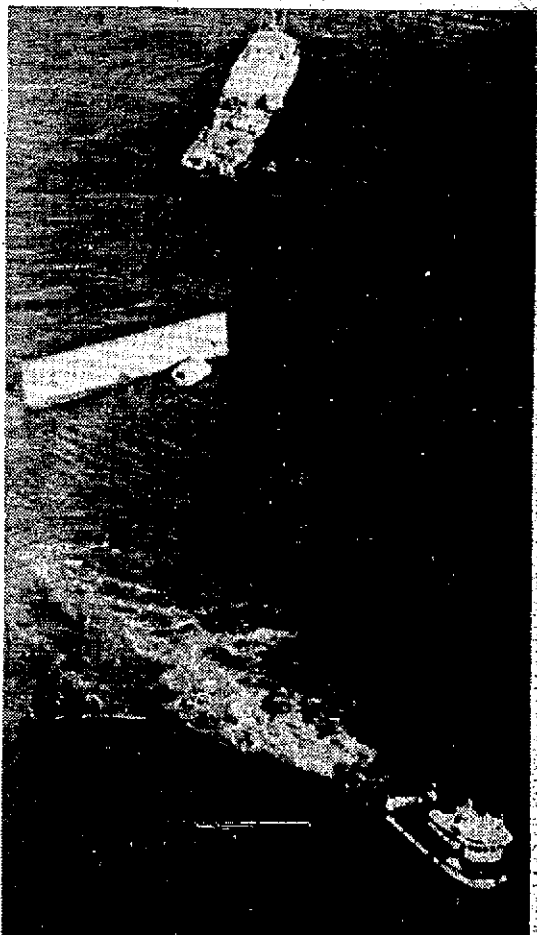

The six apparently were sleeping aboard the Progress Marine No. 2 while the repair rig was being towed by a tug, the Admiral Lee.

The rig overturned about 18 miles southwest of Grand Isle, La.

The Coast Guard said 12 men were aboard and that six were rescued almost immediately.

A spokesman for Progress Marine identified those rescued as Clyde Pitre, Jack Johnson, Larry Sequar, John Guidroz and J.D. Hock. Their hometowns were not known. A sixth man, the cook, was flown to a hospital for treatment of possible broken ribs.

The identities of those missing were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Season's First Strawberries

The first crate of Michigan-grown strawberries was delivered to the Benton Harbor Fruit Market this morning, marking the start of this year's season at the big market.

Delivering the 16-quart crate of Midway berries was John Falkner, III, son of John Falkner, Jr., the owner of F&F Farms, Route 2, Decatur. Berries will be auctioned off Wednesday morning at 10 a.m., according to Al Braudo, market manager.

Young Falkner said that the strawberry crop looks excellent this year. In 1974, the first crate of strawberries was auctioned for a record high of $1,925 on June 5.

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The winning number in the Michigan Daily Lottery contest for Monday, June 2, is nine-two-five, (925), the state Lottery Bureau said today.

Consumers Granted Gas Rate Increase

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Consumers Power Co. today was granted a $29.2 million interim rate increase for its natural gas customers.

Commissioner William Ralls dissented.

Consumers Power sought an interim rate increase of $39.5 million.

The interim request is part of an overall rate case of $54.1 million which the PSC has under consideration.

The Jackson-based company filed the request last November. The commission will issue a final decision in the case late this summer.

The utility has just under one million natural gas customers.

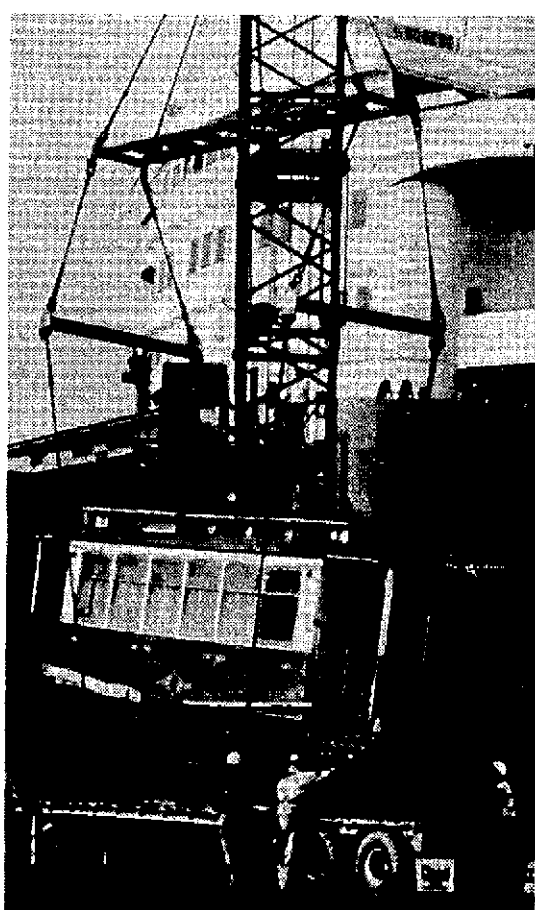

Children Safe After 10 Hours In Woods

LUDINGTON, Mich. (AP) — Spotted by a search plane, three Flint children were found Saturday after wandering 10 hours in the forests along Lake Michigan.

The children, Becky Green, 8, and her brothers, Matthew, 6, and Randy, 4, were lost while on a family outing in Mason County. After dozens of police and volunteers joined the search, the children were found about 2½ miles from where they vanished.

Authorities said the children were hungry and tired but unharmed otherwise. They are the children of Ronald and Patricia Green.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Washington Playing 'Big Momma'

The federal government has not balanced a budget in 40 years, it is not very effective in protecting the citizenry from crime and violence, most of its ideas to improve the economy work in reverse, and as the sobering experience in Viet Nam shows, it is something less than Alexander the Great when it comes to a military exercise.

Despite these failures and possibly because of them, Uncle Sam is not deterred in the least from playing baby sitter for his nephews and nieces.

The latest demonstration in this protective gesture is a proposed rule by the Federal Trade Commission requiring any celebrity giving a commercial endorsement to use the product or service or run afoul of being cited for false and deceptive advertising.

The FTC is inviting comments from all and sundry on its latest brainstorm and unless convinced the thought should be scuttled or substantially altered, plans to effectuate it around July 15.

In the plain English one FTC spokesman gave to the reporter what it means is that if Joe Namath says he eats Maypo for breakfast, he better be downing the stuff regularly, or else.

The same goes for Mickey Mantle and Whitey Ford guzzling any brew but Lite beer; Joe DiMaggio swallowing any brew but Mr. Coffee; and, as Pat Buchanan, one columnist, put it so succinctly, Morris the cat better not be prowling the alleyways for table scraps while he is demonstrating the feline delight in a Nine Lives can.

The reader can think of endless additions to the chain.

About the only one who might be safe is Johnny Carson and his wardrobe which he plugs over the telly from time to time. He has to be a full time model for the clothing firm in which he has a big piece of the action.

Congress created the Commission in 1914 to police unfair methods of competition. As originally cast, the thrust was on enforcement of the anti-trust statutes.

In later years the Justice Department started to squeeze FTC out of the anti-trust field as a matter of working day enforcement, and the Commission, through enabling legislation, shifted its emphasis to the marketplace's workings. Produce safety and performance, and advertising practice have become its major concerns.

If somebody advertises his lubricant will run the family bus for 10,000 miles before an oil change is required and the stuff fizzes out at 5,000, the FTC has a limitless arsenal of weapons to halt the deception.

The celebrity endorsement goes way back when, long before the FTC came on the scene. Early day cigar makers capitalized on the appeal (north from the Mason-Dixon line) held by General Grant, the Civil War hero and a chain smoker. Grant did not take an honorarium, but many a stogie producer circularized the information he had smoked his cigar.

Its refinement into the target now in the FTC's sights came along toward the turn of the century.

The fee paid for the big name endorsement is a tidy side income for the stellar attractions in sports, movies, the theatre or other endeavors in the limelight.

Doubtless, the endorsement helps a producer's business. Otherwise, he would not lay out the dough these personalities command for their blessing.

How much a leg up it gives over his competition is open to question. It has never been proven the big name endorsement has sent one producer into bankruptcy while elevating his client to multi-millionaire status.

The FTC, however, is assuming such to be the effect.

Just how evil is the deception perceived by the FTC; that is, how big a con game is it for the big name to lend his or her entitlement for a fee to something he or she does not use?

We fail to see how it fractures the Ten Commandments which are the moralistic foundation for many civilizations and governments.

Unless one accepts the FTC premise that the U.S. is peopled by minds no further advanced than the babypants stage, we would lay any odds requested that Joe Namath is not going to push Corn Flakes, Post Toasties, Wheaties and the other breakfast chaff off the American dinner table.

We should think the unions and associations which today represent most of stardom would bombard the FTC as being anti-labor. That's a sin surpassing adultery in our country.

U.S. Naval Power Could Use Bolstering

It has become almost a tradition for the secretaries of the military services to appear before congressional committees and plead poverty. That is unfortunate, because at a time when some of the services at least do have cause to worry about their state of preparedness, the present Congress seems disinclined to listen.

Navy Secretary J. William Middendorf is one of the concerned officials. Middendorf's task is to see to it that the U.S. Navy is in a position to protect American interests against any potential naval aggressor. In the current world situation that means the Soviet Union.

Soviet naval power has increased substantially in the last 10 years. Its presence is now established in the Mediterranean and the Indian Ocean and other places where the Soviet flag was seldom seen until recently. Its submarine fleet is expanding rapidly and the coasts of the United States have become favorite grounds for maneuvers.

While this expansion has been underway, what of the U.S. fleet? The Navy now has the smallest number of active ships it has had since the start of World War II, when the fleet was caught in a sad state of unpreparedness.

It is true that modern warships are far more versatile and contain greater firepower than did the ships they replaced. But the comparison is not between the American fleet of 30 years ago and the present one, but between the modern Soviet and U.S. naval strengths.

In that comparison, the United States does not fare as well as it should.

STUDENTS ENJOY GREENFIELD VILLAGE

Editor,
Going to Greenfield Village is a learning experience everyone should have, and Mrs. Handy's sixth-grade class has been lucky enough to have had it. The students sold apples to raise money to pay for the trip and to stay in McGuffey's Hall at the Dearborn Inn across the street from the Village.

Do You REMEMBER?

- 10 Years Ago -

A little man who played in the shadow of giants during much of his high school athletic career Tuesday night reached a height which none of his bigger teammates ever managed to attain. Kent Ingles of Galien last night was named as the 16th recipient of the Berrien County Sportswriters' Award, presented annually to the senior athlete selected as the all-around most valuable performer by the sports staffs of The News-Palladium, the St. Joseph Herald-Press and radio station WHFB.

- 25 Years Ago -

One hundred twenty nine St. Joseph high school graduates received their diplomas last evening at the conclusion of the 78th annual commencement program. The graduation speaker was Prof. Edgar L. Harden of Michigan State College, East Lansing. Gifts were presented to Melvyn Remus, valedictorian, and Elizabeth Evans, salutatorian, by Principal Henry Weyland.

- 50 Years Ago -

The Benton Harbor city commission yesterday paved the way for the erection of the new American Legion hall, by granting a site for the building in Hall park.

Showers which began shortly before noon today break a record drought for this season of the year in Berrien county. All crops, including fruit and garden truck, are in need of moisture.

Two hundred and thirty years of history of the St. Joseph river valley will be recreated here in the pageant of the See-Wau-See-Be to be presented at Flis-trup field, Benton Harbor, on June 6, concluding the program

At the Village we toured historical buildings of the early 18th, 19th and 20th century. Some of the most interesting sights were Edison's Laboratory where he invented the electric light bulb and many other things, another was the Courthouse where Lincoln practiced law and the chair he sat in when he was shot. On the second day Mrs. Handy's class toured the Henry Ford Museum. There they saw early steam engines, cars, planes and wagons, along with early radios, phonographs, and telephones. The Museum has many interesting exhibits such as pewter and candle making.

Many of the things there would have been impossible to see if someone like Mr. Ford hadn't wanted people to know what life was like long before we were born and made an effort to preserve it so we could learn from it. I think it was a tremendous experience for all of us.

ROTARIANS GET PAT ON BACK

Editor,
My compliments to the Rotarians for providing a really exciting fun track and field event.

It was a real thrill to see the athletic skills performed with great sportsmanship and friendliness on the part of the kids.

I'm sure it took time, effort and money on the part of the Rotary members but no doubt they felt it all worthwhile. My thanks to them for sponsoring such an excellent event for the area.

Defendants In DC10 Crash Say They Will Settle

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Defendants in multimillion-dollar suits stemming from last year's Turkish Air Lines DC10 crash near Paris say they will settle with the relatives of victims if the relatives will withdraw their damage suits.

Joining in the settlement move, outlined in U.S. District Court records here, were McDonnell Douglas Corp., the plane's manufacturer; General Dynamics, involved in its design; Turkish Air Lines, and the Federal Aviation Administration, which certified the aircraft.

U.S. May Soon Free Last Colony

WASHINGTON — As far as constituencies go, Washington D.C.'s Walter Fauntroy is one of the most important members of the House of Representatives. He speaks for three quarters of a million people, more than any other congressman, who contribute almost $1 billion annually to the federal treasury, also a superlative statistic in a nation where money is power.

Yet in terms of legislative influence, Fauntroy is zilch. As a congressional power he ranks somewhere between the member from Guam and the night custodian. Fauntroy is not properly a Representative with a capital R, he is a delegate with a small d. Though he is the only official political emissary to Capitol Hill from the streets of the District, he mostly is an observer; the Constitution of the nation prevents Fauntroy from voting on, and his constituency from full participation in, the nation's business.

Quite naturally, the situation — "taxation without representation" — as Fauntroy correctly calls it — has been a primary local exasperation since 1790, when Fletcher Christian commandeered the good ship Bounty on one side of the world, and, on the other, Congress authorized the establishment of the American capital on the river Potomac.

Interestingly, this ancient and silly violation of democratic principle seldom has been considered outside the immediate area. College instructors are forever publishing polls which indicate that large numbers of otherwise thoughtful Americans do not even know the situation exists. Until 1971 the District was not so much as allowed a delegate in Congress, until last year the residents could not so much as vote for their one mayor or council (Congress ran the city), yet even as homosexuals have enlisted widespread aid and sympathy in their fight for civil rights, 722,000 Washington citizens have in the main suffered alone as inhabitants of the last U.S. colony.

The good news now is that, according to Fauntroy, the colonialists' suffering may be approaching an end. The delegate has teamed with Sen. Edward Kennedy (D. Mass.) to introduce legislation which would amend the Constitution and thereby, after 185 years, put Washington citizenship on the same level as other Americans. Fauntroy-Kennedy would allow locals to vote for two U.S. senators and two U.S. congressmen, giving them not only a voice but a loud bellow in the legislative debate affecting their lives and pocketbooks.

Four voting members, two on each side of the legislature, would make the District the most powerfully represented city in America.

Besides this, and perhaps even more importantly, the powerful representation would, in a town only 24 per cent white, almost assuredly be all black — a notion that man in Congress find impossible to accept.

So it is that the Fauntroy-Kennedy proposal addresses itself to a larger matter than taxation without representation. Congress must also decide whether to vastly increase black power in this town and nation. One way or another, its decision will say a lot about where America has been and where it is going.

Will Political Climate Change?

McLEAN, Va. — Rep. Morris Udall told a fund-raising affair in his Virginia suburb the other day that he is running for President because he believes the nation is tired of being trapped by reflex into considering only the familiar names of the past decade, and now years for someone new.

Udall is certainly right about the reflex, but any national yearning has yet to register.

A Gallup Poll of Democratic voters last week listed as the top six favorites for the party nomination only men who had previously been the nominee, had actively sought it, or whose brother had been President. They were, in order, Sen. Edward Kennedy, Gov. George Wallace, and Senators Hubert Humphrey, Henry Jackson, Edmund Muskie and George McGovern.

Each of the other Democrats who have announced their Presidential ambitions, or who are flirting with the idea but have never before run for national office, rates less than 2 per cent of the voter support.

Although the Presidential conventions are more than a year away, most, if not all, of the active contenders for the primaries have already formally announced. Their official entry appears to have made few inroads against the residual support for political figures whose names have previously been on the ballot and are therefore more easily recognizable.

The voters, in their wisdom, may simply be too bored or too disgusted with national politics to focus on the comparative merits of newcomers at this early stage. There will, indeed, be ample time for that as spring approaches next year and 30 primaries, more than ever before, clamor for attention and analysis.

Therefore it would be vastly premature at this time to give much weight to Gallup or any other pollster as reflecting what may actually happen.

The latest poll, however, has increased speculation that Kennedy may be chosen by his party at the convention in spite of his repeated statements that he will not run and will not accept a draft. Kennedy was the first choice of 36 per cent of those sampled; his nearest competitor was Wallace, with 15 per cent.

Kennedy's support among Democrats has remained remarkably constant in recent years. In November, 1973, he had 44 per cent support; in March, 1974, he drew 44 per cent; and last September, just before he formally withdrew, he won 46 per cent.

This has consistently put him out in front among Democratic possibilities and encouraged Newsweek to make Kennedy its current cover feature.

But Kennedy's rather steady showing is a mixed blessing. As the bearer of this century's most famous political name, he is recognized by roughly 95 per cent of all voters, far more than can identify any other national figure. That means most people know something about him and have formed opinions about him.

And, at best, for the past two years roughly half the voters have not supported him. That is a formidable negative to overcome, particularly for a man who refuses to campaign.

Kennedy himself says that he believes the 1976 Presidential candidate will come out of the primaries, as all the Democratic nominees have since 1954 (with the exception of incumbent Lyndon Johnson in 1964).

He appears to agree with Udall that the old reflex will not last through next summer.

Wants World To Kick The Habit

NEW YORK (AP) — The 3rd World Conference on Smoking and Health should try to limit cigarette smoking by the end of this century to a few addicts who practice their habit in private or in the company of consenting adults, an expert, Sir George Godber, says.

Most of the countries of the world have failed to mount vigorous campaigns against smoking, the conference was told. Norway and Sweden, with lesser problems than Britain or the United States, have the most comprehensive programs.

LANDMARK DESTROYED BY FIRE

FIRE DESTROYS LANDMARK: Smoke and flames Sunday night consume former Grande Vista nightclub owned by House of David at Stevensville, and more recently the Paris flea market. Building

Grande Vista Burns 5 Hours

By RALPH LUTZ
Staff Writer

Fire Sunday night destroyed one of southwestern Michigan's first nightclubs of the post-prohibition era — the House of David's Grande Vista at Stevensville.

The large two-story building at 5300 Red Arrow highway most recently housed the Paris flea market, but had been vacant since last December, according to James Moss, who manages the property for the House of David.

All available firemen from five departments battled the blaze for more than five hours. Flames were reported fueled by heavy timbers used in construction of the building. No injuries were reported.

Robert Koebel, assistant chief of the Tri-Unit fire department, Stevensville, said the cause of the fire has not been determined. Koebel said the fire began in the basement.

The Tri-Unit department was assisted by departments from Baroda, Lake township, Bridgman, and St. Joseph township. More than a dozen fire trucks were at the scene, and traffic was backed up for several miles along Red Arrow highway.

The fire was reported to the Berrien sheriff's department at 6:36 p.m. by Sheriff's Lt. Ronald Schalton.

"I was answering another complaint, and thought I saw flames in the basement," Schalton said. Schalton said he drove up, saw about a 30-foot area in the basement on fire and heard crackling. "I got on the radio and called for water," Schalton said.

Moss and his wife also manage the Grande Vista tourist court, which has units both to the south of the burned structure and across the highway. Moss said he saw what must have been smoke, but thought it was fog. The motel also is owned by the House of David.

Firemen said the basement was cluttered by furniture and other items.

No damage estimate of loss could be determined for some time, but the structure is believed to be insured, according to Moss.

The fire was the second in nearly ten years to hit the House of David, headquartered in Benton township. A fire Sept. 2, 1965, destroyed the religious sect's art studio and print shop building and a maintenance building. The loss in buildings, art products and other equipment was estimated at $300,000.

The Red Arrow highway building is located near the north village limits of Stevensville. Firemen said they arrived to encounter waves of flame spreading through the building and intense heat.

Moss said the burned building was built in 1931. With the end of prohibition, it became one of southwestern Michigan's most popular nightspots.

FAREWELL DINNER

Rabbi Honored By Congregation

Rabbi Wayne Franklin of Temple B'nai Shalom, Fairplain, was honored by the congregation at a farewell dinner Sunday night.

Rabbi Franklin, who has served Temple B'nai Shalom for the past five years, will take a similar position with a larger congregation in Orange, Conn., after July 1. Orange is a suburb of New Haven, Conn.

Rabbi Harold Beran of Paterson, N.J., will replace Rabbi Franklin.

Rabbi Franklin came to the former Temple B'nai Shalom in 1970 and was a moving force in the merger of the temple and the former Temple Beth El in 1971 when the present Temple B'nai Shalom was formed.

A native of Wharton, Tex., Rabbi Franklin received a bachelor of arts degree in sociology from Yeshiva university, New York City, and was ordained following graduation from the Jewish Theological seminary, New York City.

During his years of study at the seminary, he spent a year at Hebrew university in Jerusalem, Israel.

During his rabbinical term here, Rabbi Franklin has been active on the board of the Samaritan Center, Twin City Rotary club, Berrien County Council of Churches and the Twin City Ministerial association. He also has been serving as chairman of the sponsoring committee for the Twin Cities Chapter of the National Urban League.

The dinner Sunday night culminated a week-end of activities in Rabbi Franklin's honor.

During the dinner, Rabbi Franklin was honored for his "years of spiritual guidance and educational advancement for the children and ourselves, for contribution toward promoting good will with our neighbors and for bringing the Jewish community together," according to Al Dubinsky, incoming president, and Bob Levin, outgoing president.

Among special guests at the dinner were Rabbi Franklin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Franklin of Texas.

Harold Hampton Is Acquitted

Harold Hampton, 21-year-old president of People for Peace, was cleared by a Fifth District court jury Friday of charges of assaulting a police officer and of creating a disturbance during a street incident Feb. 19.

The six-member jury in the court of Judge Leo Cook deliberated about an hour at the conclusion of a two-day trial to acquit Hampton.

Hampton was arrested by Benton Harbor police when he intervened after police arrested Richard Earl Moffitt, 18, of 1036 Pavone street, on a charge of creating a disturbance. Hampton had been charged with assaulting Patrolman Kenneth Webster.

Moffitt was cleared of the charge against him by a Fifth District court jury about four weeks ago.

The People for Peace organization headed by Hampton sponsors Operation Watch-Key, a federally-funded after-school care program for children.

"I'm happy to say justice did prevail. And not only did it prevail, but it helped to restore my confidence in the system that it does work," Hampton said after the trial. Violence is not always the answer; there is a due process of law and it does work sometimes in a pile of systemic defects and imperfections. But it will only help if the Benton Harbor police department realize and admit that there is good and bad in very hunch, and take steps to rectify their bad."

"I would like to say," he added, "I hold no hate or malice in my heart but I will continue to pursue my goal to help make the City of Benton Harbor a safer community in which to live."

Longtime BH Policeman Dies Sunday At 51

Meredith (Rine) Rynearson, 51, former Benton Harbor acting police chief, died Sunday of an apparent heart attack at his home, 4926 St. Joseph avenue, Stevensville.

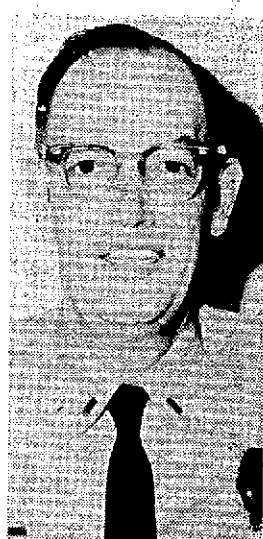

He was pronounced dead on arrival at Memorial hospital at 8:55 p.m.

Mr. Rynearson held every rank in the Benton Harbor police department during 27½ years of continuous service, a longevity record for the department. He retired in 1973 and then headed a study, aimed at setting up a centralized records bureau for police agencies in Berrien county.

Mr. Rynearson retired from the Benton Harbor department with the rank of captain. He served three months as acting chief, following the resignation of acting chief Keith Mills. He last served under present chief Andrew Rodez.

Mr. Rynearson was born May 9, 1924, in Benton Harbor. He was a past president of the Fraternal Order of Police, Blossomland Lodge 109, and was active in Blossomtime, Inc. He also was a member of the American Legion post at Stevensville.

Survivors include his wife, the former Lorraine Meyers; a son, Rick, of Stevensville; two daughters, Karen, of Benton Harbor, and Dawn, at home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rynearson, Benton Harbor; one brother, Veryl Rynearson, Bangor; and three sisters, Mrs. Harvey (Clarice) Sells, St. Joseph, Mrs. Donald (Velma) Kelm, St. Joseph, and Mrs. Rinoide (Vernis) Freise, Custer, Mich.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday, at Kerly and Starks funeral home, St. Joseph. Burial will be in Stevensville cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home, starting at 7 p.m. today.

Catholic Graduates Told Sincerity Is Real Test

Rev. Eugene Sears, chancellor for the Diocese of Kalamazoo, substituting for Bishop Paul V. Donovan Sunday, told 95 Lake Michigan Catholic graduates high school graduates: "Act with the knowledge you have so God can work with you and in you."

Commencement exercises were held in St. Joseph public high school auditorium before a capacity audience. It was the sixth graduating class after consolidation of Benton Harbor, St. John's high school and St. Joseph Catholic high school in the fall of 1969.

Father Sears said Bishop Donovan had been ordered to remain at home by his physician because of illness.

Father Sears built his address around the theme that graduates take the facts given by parents and school and build on them. He said: "I think the ultimate degree of a real education is how well you put into practice things you have learned."

"People are not interested in book knowledge," he continued. "What they are more interested in is how sincere a person acts and what he does and how well he does it."

Speaking for the seniors, Patricia Jane Collins, class valedictorian, quoted the class motto, a portion of a Robert Frost poem titled: "The Road Not Taken."

Miss Collins said: "We must not be afraid of taking the road less traveled. Obstacles may block the trail but we can overcome them. Some of us may come to dead ends but hopefully others will lead the stray ones back to a better path. We must try to work our way out of complications by using what we have learned at school, at home and in our daily experiences. We have been taught well and must show the world that Lake Michigan Catholic high school has produced worthwhile people."

Graduates were welcomed by Thomas Pavovich, president of the Lake Michigan Catholic Area School Board. Rev. Cletus Rose, pastor of St. Joseph Catholic, gave the invocation and Rev. Leroy of St. John's, White, pastor, gave the benediction.

Father Sears formerly was pastor of St. Bernard's parish, Fairplain.

William McRae, assistant principal, presented the candidates and Principal Donald M. Stock awarded the diplomas.

Build Future On Progress Of Past, SJ Grads Told

Rev. James L. Walker, pastor of Niles Avenue Baptist church, Sunday, told St. Joseph high school graduates "Our world is in need of those who will build upon the progress to the present to bring about a better future."

Rev. Walker used the theme "You have heard it said" from the Sermon on the Mount. Baccalaureate services were held in St. Joseph high school auditorium before a near capacity audience.

The baccalaureate service opened commencement week which will be climaxed by awarding diplomas Thursday evening.

Rev. Walker said: "Although it is important that one hears what has been said, it is also important that one hears what is being said. Each time Jesus used the phrase 'you have heard that it was said' he also used 'I say unto you.'"

"Each time he made a wider application of the law to fulfill the 'thou shalt not' with a self-discipline."

Rev. Walker continued: "Most important of all, let there be no misunderstanding between what you say and what you are."

Rev. Arlon Stubbs, pastor of Saron Lutheran church, gave the invocation and benediction, and Rev. Dale D. Brown, pastor of First United Methodist church, gave the scripture reading.

Nutritional Conflict

Substitution of skim milk for whole milk in school lunch programs might diminish an already inadequate calorie intake among some groups, according to a member of the American Medical Association's department of foods and nutrition. Available evidence does not support the use of skim milk in the child population at large, according to a statement from the nutritionist cited from the American Academy of Pediatrics.

NO WONDER- NO AWNINGS!

Kicking about the heat? Don't blame your air conditioner. When windows are left exposed to direct sun rays, room temperatures soar. And so does the cooling cost. And so does the use of energy we are all asked to conserve. Nursing Students To Receive Pins

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Thirty-five nursing students, who are candidates for the

Cercarial Dermatitis Confusing

"Swimmers' Itch," a skin rash accompanied by intense itching, often is confused with contact dermatitis, poison ivy or chigger and mosquito bites.

Medically known as cercarial dermatitis, the infection is caused by a tiny worm spread by snails living in the water, and is particularly common in the Great Lakes, according to an item in "Dermatology News."

Individuals swimming in warm shallow water near aquatic weed beds appear the most likely to become infected, since these areas are particularly friendly to the snail hosts.

Swimmers' itch clears up after a week or so, but it is important economically to water recreation areas. Use of the water can be severely restricted, and the impact can be serious on vacation home and tourist areas.

bachelor of science degree at Andrews university's spring commencement, will receive their pins at a ceremony the day before graduation, Saturday, June 7, at 4:30 p.m. in Lamson hall.

Speaker for the program will be Dr. Dwain Ford, dean of the college of arts and sciences. His topic will be, "Let This Mind Be in You."

Alice Smith, chairman of the nursing department, and Eulalia White, assistant professor of nursing, will officiate at the pinning. The ceremony is traditional in nursing schools for students who have completed requirements for their degrees.

With those graduating in absentia, the total number of nurses graduating will be over 40, the largest class since the nursing program began at Andrews six years ago.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

He's A Big Boy, Now

Dear Ann Landers: My seven-year-old son says he is old enough to go to a public restroom alone when we are out shopping without his dad. I have always insisted that he go with me to the ladies' restroom.

There are so many freaks running around loose these days I feel a lot safer taking him in with me. The boy resents it because he is quite large for his age and some of the women have been giving him funny looks lately.

We will go along with your decision. What is it? — Concerned Mom

Dear Mom: Stand outside the men's room for a few moments and ask some kindly gentleman on his way in if he will "look after" your son.

A seven-year-old boy who doesn't want to be taken to the ladies' room should not be forced to go. I'm sure you'll have no trouble buttonholing a friendly "volunteer."

Nobody's Perfect

Dear Ann Landers: I hope you won't think this letter is too nutty to print. I'd love your opinion. It's my phobia for remembering things.

In a casual conversation, a name or a place will slip my mind and it just about drives me crazy. I will phone people (even long-distance) in an effort to chase down the "missing link." If I don't succeed I become so uptight I can't sleep. It bothers me for days. I have discussed this problem with my doctor and I even went to see a psychiatrist. The psychiatrist said I would have to find out why it is so important to remember. After a year of trying to figure out the reason I am no closer to the mystery. Am I the only nut hung up like this? How do others handle the problem? — I Forgot

Dear Friend: Move over, you have plenty of company. Everyone forgets names, places, dates, song titles — you name it and it's slipped MY mind at one time or another. Yes, I've even tried to chase down clues via long-distance, but if I fail, it doesn't undo me.

The psychiatrist is right. You must find out why it is so important to remember everything. Such superhuman demands suggest that you are a perfectionist. Like all perfectionists you have little pockets of insecurity and you try to compensate for your inadequacies (real or imagined) by appearing to be perfect. Nobody is, so forget it. Uh — I mean, don't let it bother you.

Tricky Puzzle

Dear Ann Landers: I saw an interesting puzzle in a magazine and thought it was a good one to share with others. I'm sorry I got mixed up with it now because it has caused me a lot of trouble with one of my best friends. She claims the answer (which appeared in the magazine on another page) cannot be correct. I wasn't able to explain the solution to her. My friend suggested you as the go-between. Please hurry the explanation because she isn't speaking to me until we hear from you. Here's the puzzle:

A man looks at a photograph and says, "That person's father is my father's son." The man doesn't have any sons or brothers. How is the man looking at the photograph related to the person in the photograph?

The answer is: The man is looking at a photograph of his daughter. Just sign me — Puzzled

Dear Puzzled: The answer is correct and if your friend will follow each step she will come to that conclusion. The big hurdle is the first sentence.

Drugs? How much is too much? Is pot O.K.? Is L.S.D. too much? If you're on dope or considering it, get Ann Landers's new booklet, "Straight Dope on Drugs." For each booklet ordered, send a dollar bill plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (20 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Burning Question

To bug or not to bug Mom on her job.

That is one of the burning questions that faces youngsters home for the summer with mothers who work outside the home.

Naturally, there are no blanket rules as emergencies do arise and Mom would insist on being called. But there are a few guidelines to follow. First, you must ask yourself: (1) Will Mom drop dead when she hears this? (2) Can she find a plumber after five? (3) Will she carry out her threat to move to another city and change her name?

If you answered yes, no, yes, you might try putting the incident in a proper perspective.

For example, if there is blood to report consider these questions. Is it yours? Your brother's? Is there a lot? A little? On the sofa that is not Scotchguarded? From a loose baby tooth? Or the $80 one that they are still making payments on? Will the bleeding stop? Was it an accident? Can you shut up about it and pass it off as an insect bite?

Another example: When every kid in the neighborhood decides your house would be a neat place to play because there is no adult at home, ask yourself, Do I want to spend my entire puberty locked in my room with no food and no television? Do I need the friendship of a boy who throws ice cubes at the bird? Will Mom notice we made con-jelli in her blender?

Other situations you can be definite about:

When a group of children decide to wash the cat and put him in the dryer and want to know what setting to use, CALL.

When you and your brother are hitting and slapping over the last soft drink and you want a high level decision on who gets it, DON'T CALL.

When a couple of men in a pickup truck tell you your Mom is having your TV set slip-covered, your silverware stored, her jewelry cleaned and your 10-speed bicycle oiled, CALL.

When you want to leave a note and tell Mom you'll be late for dinner because you are hitchhiking to a stone quarry to go swimming, CALL.

When you forgot to defrost the hamburger so you put it under your Mom's hair dryer and the dog is licking meat off the walls, CALL.

When your sister chases you into the house with the garden hose and the furniture is turning a funny-looking white, RUN.

When you are bored and have nothing to do and just want to "talk," CALL YOUR FATHER.

Dr. Lester Coleman

I work in a noisy factory. I have to shout to be heard by the man who sits two feet away from me. Can this affect my hearing? I am 27. Two people in my family are deaf.

Mr. J.H., Mich.

Dear Mr. H.: There is a distinct relationship between exposure to constant, intense noise and deafness.

Gunfire, factory and machine shop noises, sonic and ultrasonic booms can be responsible for hearing problems.

Many people are exposed to ultrasonic vibrations which are not heard, yet can harm to the delicate hearing mechanism.

Acoustical engineers have made important contributions to protect workers against excessive noise.

Unfortunately, many workers become careless and do not use the protective measures their company provides. Some employers, too, are careless and overlook these dangers inherent in their plants.

Your factory leader should present this problem to your employers and establish safety measures for all the workers. It seems, too, that the constant shouting may put unnecessary strain on your vocal cords.

I awake almost every night with a cramp in my foot or leg. It never happens during the day. I'm in good health at 68. Can this be prevented or cured?

Mr. B.R.T., Tex.

Dear Mr. T.: These sudden pains in the calf muscles or the toes are due to some narrowing, or spasms, of the artery that brings blood and oxygen to the leg.

The accumulated toxicity of tobacco may be a factor. Tight bed sheets that restrict the movement of the legs further impair circulation.

When such a spasm occurs it can usually be relieved by gently, but firmly, bringing the toes up. By keeping them there the spasm usually disappears. There are some excellent

Environmentalists Face Challenge

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Upper Peninsula legislators say they have enough votes to win committee approval of a measure conservationists charge would gut the Environmental Protection Act of 1970.

The measure would bar court challenges over the environmental impact of economic development projects once a government agency has issued the proper permits.

The 1970 act allows citizens to file lawsuits to block a project if they feel the government has been lax in guarding natural resources.

U.P. lawmakers favoring industrial expansion will clash with environmentalists over the bill Wednesday in the House Conservation Committee.

The committee is chaired by state Rep. Thomas Anderson, D-Southgate. He is the main legislative sponsor of the 1970 act, which has resulted in about 100 court challenges to industrial expansion and other projects environmentalists feel may be harmful.

The bill was introduced by House Appropriations chairman Dominic Jacobetti, D-Negaunee. An identical Senate measure is sponsored by Sen. Joseph Mack, D-Ironwood.

"I want every committee member to know exactly what this bill would do," said Anderson. "It would destroy the Environmental Protection Act."

Anderson was reluctant to bring up the bill when it was first referred to his committee several weeks ago but agreed to discuss it at the request of the bill's backers.

He wants extensive committee hearings, however, and said he will block efforts to report it to the full House. As chairman, Anderson could keep the bill in committee by gaveling a meeting to adjournment before backers could take a vote.

State Rep. Jack Gingrass, D-Iron Mountain, said his own canvass of the 13-member panel shows "10, maybe 11 votes" in favor of the bill. Seven votes are required to report the bill to the House floor.

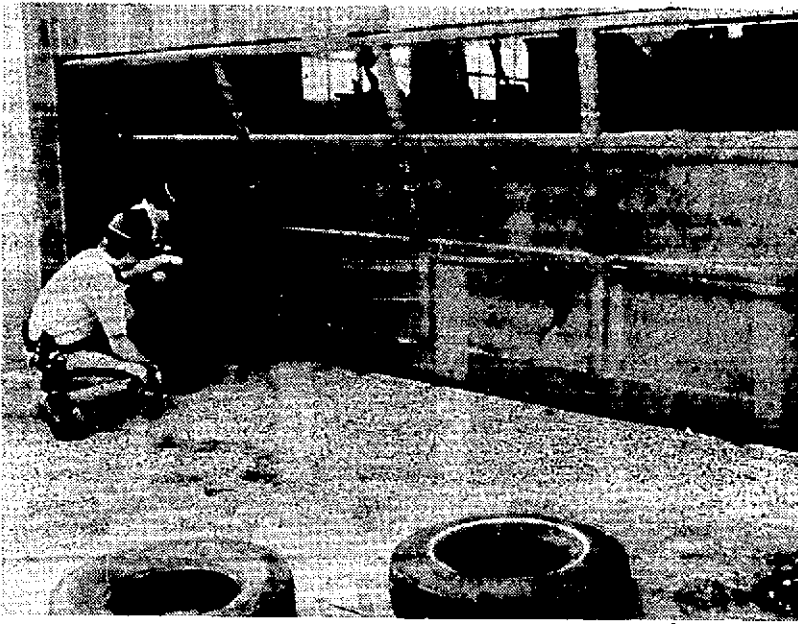

"I don't see any reason to have a lot of hearings," said Gingrass. "Let's report it out of committee, run it up the flag pole in the House and see how many votes it gets."

Mining lobbyist James Goulette has been prowling Capitol corridors touting the measure. Goulette said New York banks won't invest in industrial development in the U.P. unless the bill goes through.

At stake immediately is construction of an unloading facility for coal and other materials at Marquette. The coal would fuel a power plant which generates electricity for operation of nearby iron ore mines.

The project has been blocked for several years because of lawsuits by citizens who maintain it could damage the environment.

tion Act is a check on government agencies which frequently operate at less than arm's length from the interests they are supposed to regulate, said

Joseph Sax, author of the measure.

The bill to block the court challenges was written by James Clancy of Ishpeming, an attorney for U.P. mining interests. Clancy has told legislators the future of industry in the region depends on passage of the measure.

Syria Pulls Back Forces; Mideast Tension Eases

WASHINGTON (AP) — Significant Syrian armored forces have moved away from the Golan Heights area in recent days, easing the danger of any immediate flare-up of war with Israel, U.S. intelligence sources say.

While charting these and other moves by both sides, U.S. intelligence officials say the only war they think is likely in the immediate future is a continued war of nerves.

The shifting of Syrian tanks and troops to the northern and eastern part of the country leaves only a thin screen along the Golan Heights facing Israel, the sources said.

Pentagon analysts say the Syrian military movements apparently were made as a result of Syria's dispute with neighboring Iraq over the waters of the Euphrates River.

Those analysts believe this explains Syrian acceptance of a six-month extension of the presence of a United Nations peacekeeping force on the Golan Heights. Syria had been expected to agree to only a one-month extension, to June 30.

Meanwhile, Israel reportedly has increased its forces in the Golan area and in the region facing Jordan by about 25 per cent since April.

Recent reports tell of Israeli forces building fortified positions along a ridge line above the Jordan River and of strengthening settlements in the disputed territory west of that river.

Pentagon specialists interpret these Israeli moves as precautionary rather than as any prelude to possible war.

Malpractice Crisis Is Last Straw

LYNCHBURG, Tenn. (AP) — Dr. F. Harlan Booher has hung a hand-lettered sign with the single word "retired" on the door of his office here.

"The malpractice thing was what broke the camel's back," he said. "They wanted to raise my insurance premium about 200 per cent, and I have never had a malpractice suit."

Like many other country doctors, Booher said increasing red tape and paperwork also were responsible for his decision to retire "early" at 70.

The decision leaves Lynchburg, where the biggest industry is Jack Daniels' bourbon distillery, without a doctor. And Booher says many of the town's 361 residents have "fallen out" with him because he won't go out and try to recruit another one.

Eleven Candidates Seek Two Seats On Gobles Board

GOBLES — Eleven candidates will be seeking election to two available Gobles school board seats in the June 9 school elections here.

Also on the ballot is a proposed, five-mill property tax levy for school operations. The one-year levy includes three mills that expired with the last tax collections and an additional two mills.

Candidates for the four-year school board terms include incumbent Mrs. Frances Sage and challengers David Barber, Clyde Crawford, Ralph Fawley, Mrs. Linda Hurst, Mrs. Elizabeth Mastenbrook, George Shyer, Mrs. Bonnie Smith, Mrs. Lucretia Smith, James Stephenson and Mrs. Janis Teter.

One incumbent, Milton Smith, is not seeking re-election to the board. His wife, Lucretia, however, is one of the 11 board candidates.

The 1974-75 extra voted property tax levy was 11 mills, which raised about $139,755 in local tax funds on a tax base of $12,705,482.

If the millage issue is approved, the extra voted mill levy would be 13 mills which would raise about $177,550 on a 1975 tax base of $13,660,000.

The district's total levy would rise to 23.75 mills, including 22.58 mills for operations and 1.17 mills for debt retirement.

The district's proposed budget for 1975-76 is $1,092,760.

The school board candidates include Mrs. Sage, 37, who has been on the board since April, 1972. She is presently board secretary. She and her husband, George, have four children. The family resides on Mill Lake road, northwest of Gobles.

Barber, 33, is chairman of the Gobles Citizens' Building committee and employed by the Brundage company in Kalamazoo. He and his wife have three children and live on 28th avenue, south of Gobles.

Crawford, 29, is employed by Miller-Davis construction of Kalamazoo. He and his wife have one child. The family lives on 26th avenue, south of Gobles.

Fawley, 46, Mill Lake road, Gobles, is employed by Kalamazoo Creamery, and has been member of citizens' group. He and his wife have three children.

Mrs. Hurst, 29, a former Gobles school teacher, is presently working toward her master's degree at Western Michigan university. She and her husband, James, have three children. The family lives just east of the city.

Mrs. Mastenbrook, 39, is a licensed practical nurse and homemaker. She and her husband, Jimmie, have four children. The family lives on route 1, four miles southeast of Gobles.

Shyer, 39, is employed by Sackett's home furnishing in Gobles and Allegan. He and his wife have three children and live on M-40, south of Gobles. He has lived in the district for about 19 years.

Mrs. Bonnie Smith, 45, is a tutor in a Gobles reading program and a Pine Grove representative to the Lake View Community hospital board. She and her husband, Duane, have four children of their own and two foster children. The family lives at Brandywine lake.

Mrs. Lucretia Smith, 40, is a seventh and eighth grade English teacher at Blooming-dale and has lived in the Gobles school district for 17 years. She and her husband, Milton, have four children and live at route 1, west of Gobles.

Stephenson, 22, is a psychologist at Kalamazoo state hospital and has worked previously with the Van Buren intermediate school district. He and his wife live at route 1, west of Gobles. They have lived in the school district for 2 1/2 years.

Mrs. Teter, 33, works for the Kalamazoo Municipal Employee's credit union and has lived in the school district for 2 1/2 years. She and her husband, Roy, have two children and live on 28th avenue, southeast of Gobles.

Brezhnev Feared Ill Again

MOSCOW (AP) — Leonid I. Brezhnev has been absent from public view since May 9, and there are rumors that he is under medical treatment again.

Officials attending the North Atlantic Alliance meeting in Brussels last week said they had reports indicating the 68-year-old head of the Soviet Communist party intends to retire next year after the party's 25th congress.

The Kremlin, as usual, is saying nothing. But if Brezhnev doesn't reappear soon it will fuel speculation about both his physical and political health.

Brezhnev normally should give a "campaign" speech prior to the election June 15 of the Russian republic's parliament for which he is one of the unopposed candidates. The election is the usual prearranged Communist affair, but the party adheres to some of the trappings of democracy in an attempt to strengthen the myth that democracy is in operation.

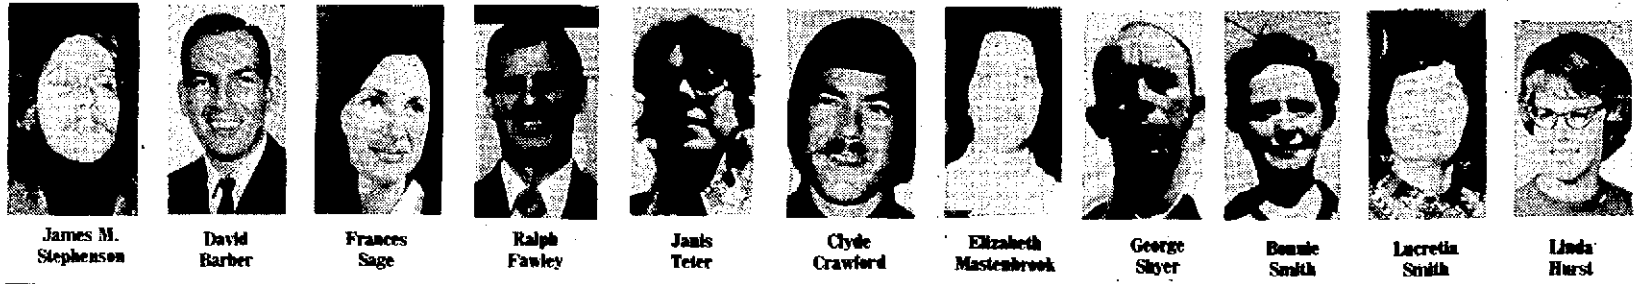

Brezhnev's failure to make a campaign speech would be a major departure from tradition and evidence that something was seriously wrong.

Last year, when he was a candidate for the Supreme Soviet, the parliament of the Soviet Union, he made his speech on June 14, two days before the election.

In 1971, as a candidate for the Russian parliament, he gave a nationally televised campaign speech on June 11, again two days before election day.

Thus, June 13 is eagerly awaited by Brezhnev watchers.

Last month there were rumors that Brezhnev was undergoing medical treatment of an unspecified nature and would be out of sight for a period.

Cambodia Isolated In Silence

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — A curtain of silence has closed around Cambodia since the Khmer Rouge took Phnom Penh April 17. The few reports that have emerged indicate a long period of isolation lies ahead for the country as the new leaders organize and try to forge a revolutionary society.

Exactly who is in charge in Phnom Penh is still a mystery. Western analysts before the fall could never say positively which of three major factions and a number of regional and ideological offshoots that made up the Communist-led Khmer Rouge would prove dominant. Reports since then have done little to clarify the situation.

Deputy Premier Khieu Samphan, a Paris-educated economist, was widely believed to have been the strongman of the revolution. A few radio broadcasts recently have mentioned his name together with his other titles of defense minister and armed forces chief.

But unconfirmed reports from some refugees have said that Samphan has been under house arrest and has become another figurehead such as aging Premier Penn Nouth and titular chief of state Prince Norodom Sihanouk, now in Peking.

Sihanouk, whose ouster from power by his own rubber-stamp legislature five years ago touched off the Cambodian civil war, has remained in his exile home true to his promises that he planned to spend little time in his native land.

The few items of news and commentary broadcast by Phnom Penh radio are usually anonymous but sometimes are attributed to Information Minister Hou Nim.

Unlike broadcasts by neighboring South Vietnam's Provisional Revolutionary Government, which are replete with detailed descriptions of events and messages to the public, Phnom Penh radio continues to dwell on the "crimes of the U.S. imperialists and their lackeys" and to praise the bravery and honesty of the Khmer Rouge revolutionaries.

The new Cambodian foreign policy is described as one of strict neutrality and nonalignment, respecting all other political systems.

There have been repeated mentions that no foreign military bases will be permitted on Cambodian soil. Many observers here take this to be aimed at the Vietnamese Communists who supported the Khmer Rouge with troops.

Foreign newsmen who emerged from Cambodia during the first week in May after being confined to the French embassy compound in Phnom Penh said that the first day of "liberation" showed there were at least two kinds of Khmer Rouge — the young soldiers who first moved into the capital and embraced townspeople, and the veteran troops who came shortly afterward and evacuated most of the population into the countryside.

Congress' 'Great Debate' Looms As Recess Ends

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is returning from a 10-day Memorial Day recess with an agenda that includes foreign policy, voting rights, a deadlocked appropriation bill and two presidential vetoes.

Liberals and conservatives were prepared to do battle in the Senate later today in what was billed as a "great debate" on foreign policy and defense posture in the post-Vietnam era.

The vehicle for this debate is a $30.3 billion authorization bill for military weapons procurement and research. The amount recommended by the Senate Armed Services Committee for the 15-months beginning July 1 is $5.4 billion less than Pentagon budget requests and $2.3 billion under the bill passed by the House on May 20.

Final Senate action is scheduled for Friday after votes beginning Wednesday on amendments to impose additional over-all cuts and to reduce or eliminate specific weapons programs.

The debate was arranged primarily by Sens. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., and Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., with the cooperation of Sens. James A.

McClure, R-Idaho, Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Harry F. Byrd, Ind.-Va.

In a prelude May 22, in which all senators were invited to express their views, Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., of the Senate Armed Services Committee warned: "Let America beware of a military letdown immediately after all that has happened in South Vietnam."

On the liberal side, Cranston said Americans are "calling for new priorities."

"The United States should be a peaceful world neighbor instead of a militant world meddler," he said. "We need a foreign and defense policy based on international partnerships for peace and freedom."

The House takes up a bill to extend the voting rights act until August 1985, making permanent the ban on literacy tests as a condition for voting.

Bilingual elections would be required in any state where a language minority accounts for at least 5 per cent of the population but which had voter turnout of less than 50 per cent. That provision would add all of Texas and Alaska to states covered by the law.

The deadlocked $15-billion appropriation bill is delaying payment of GI education benefits to some 300,000 veterans. The measure was on the brink of enactment right before the recess but was snarled by Senate insistence on a $700-million item to repair railroad tracks.

Funds for a variety of programs are involved and could run out if the deadlock persists for long. Only the veterans' educational funds are immediately affected and each day's delay beginning today means another day's delay in mailing the checks to veterans in the program.

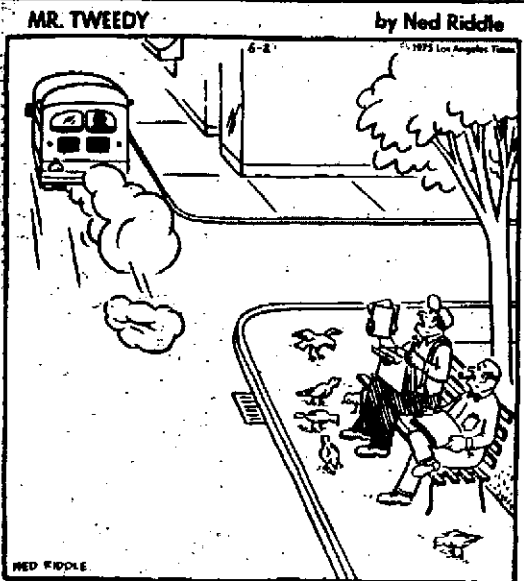

The House will act later this week on a two-year $1.4-billion extension of authority for revenue-sharing grants to states for health services.

Fourteen Charged In Heroin Arrests

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Fourteen people — including three from Detroit — have been indicted in San Diego in connection with what investigators describe as a multi-million dollar heroin ring stretching from Mexico to Michigan.

Those indicted from Detroit were identified as Lee Jones, Bob Hall and Roosevelt Edwards. Another four people have pleaded guilty to charges stemming from an investigation of the ring and are now awaiting sentencing. Authorities said Edwards and Hall remain at large.

Federal attorney Steve Peterson said narcotics agents learned of the ring after seizing small amounts of heroin and cocaine last September. Details of the heroin connection with Michigan were not revealed by investigators.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Board Candidate Says $208 Stolen From Billfold

Lawrence Sherman, 23, a candidate for the Benton Harbor board of education, told city police that $208 was stolen from his billfold, sometime early Saturday.

Sherman, whose address was listed by police as Box 157-B, Townline road, Route 1, Benton Harbor, told officers the money included a $100 bill and a $50 bill.

Police said Sherman reported he noticed the money was missing after he had been in the company of two women and a man at a house on East Britain avenue in the city.

Robert Campbell, 22, of 2237 Butler drive, Benton Heights, was hospitalized Saturday with injuries he told police were received when beaten up by "a friend" in the 300 block of Pipestone street, Benton Harbor.

City police said Campbell received face and head injuries, including an eye injury, and was admitted to Mercy hospital. The attack reportedly occurred about 5:30 p.m.

Campbell told officers he knew of no reason for the attack. Police said no arrest has been made, pending further investigation.

Three young men were arrested by state police of the Benton Harbor post in two separate incidents on charges of possession of marijuana early Sunday in Benton township.

Booked at the Berrien jail

Robbery Reported By Decatur Man

KEELER — Van Buren sheriff's deputies said they took four farm laborers into custody last night after a Decatur man reported he was robbed at knifepoint of $85 near here.

Lodged in the Van Buren county jail in Paw Paw on charges of armed robbery, according to deputies, were Curtis Ray Smallwood, 32, of Watervliet, Jamie Edward Duke, 26, of Vinemont, Ala., and brothers Bobby Lee Hall, 33, of Keeler, and Eddie Joe Hall, 23, of Hartford.

Deputies said the arrests came after Ricky Jackson, 22, route 2, Decatur, told them he had been given a ride by a man and then driven to a farm camp where he was forced from the car and robbed.

According to Jackson three men tied the car at the camp. He told deputies that one of the four held a knife at his back and forced him to give them his wallet.

were Steven Fernwalt, 17, of 2137 Deraffa drive, St. Joseph; Lloyd Glupker, 18, of 1267 Pearl street, Benton Harbor; and Albert Remley, 18, of 766 South Crystal avenue, Benton township.

Troopers said Fernwalt and Glupker were arrested on M-139 north of Nickerson avenue and Remley was arrested on Britain avenue west of Crystal. Troopers said small quantities of alleged marijuana were confiscated.

Nearly $120 in food items, mostly candy, was stolen from a concession stand near Fairplain East elementary school, 1995 Union street. Thieves broke a window to gain entry, state police of the Benton Harbor post said.

State police of the Benton Harbor post reported Walter Evans, 22, Chicago, was arrested on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. Troopers said a pair of karate sticks were found partially hidden in a car driven by Evans when the auto was stopped Saturday for a safety violation.

Henry Evans, 45, Eau Claire, was arrested Saturday by Benton Harbor police on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. Police said a .22 caliber pistol was found in a car in the 500 block of Whitcomb court.

Two larcenies were reported to St. Joseph township police Sunday.

Matt Glavich, 2653 Hillview lane, told police fishing equipment valued at about $150 was stolen from his boat while it was docked at Whispering Willows Marina, 2383 Niles road.

A radio valued at $70 and $6 in cash were reported stolen from Mono-Line Industries, 2181 Maiden lane, sometime Monday night.

Willie Anderson, 126 Vashti drive, reported to Benton township police the theft of a stereo record player and a tape deck valued at $200.

Berrien sheriff's officers said tools valued at $400 were reported stolen from the home of Marion Hanks, 6270 Washington, Coloma, over the weekend.

Benton Harbor police said a tape player was reported stolen from the home of Johnnie Mae Moore, 1089 Broadway.

Benton Harbor Patrolman Steve Hansen late Saturday night recovered an allegedly stolen motorcycle after a chase, but two men who were riding the motorcycle escaped on foot.

Hansen said the motorcycle was abandoned in the 300 block of Pavone street. Police said it had been stolen from Gerom Jones, 2444 Crawford drive, Benton township.

FIRE IN BENTON: Benton township firemen Saturday used about 1,000 gallons of water to quell stubborn blaze that extensively damaged home of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Sanders, Jr., 2248 Hillandale road, just south of Meadowbrook road. Firemen said blaze began in basement recreation area, apparently from faulty wiring. Blaze spread into portion of upper level and entire house sustained heavy heat and smoke damage. Family was away when neighbors spotted flames and called firemen at 11:10 a.m. Benton township was assisted by a truck from Sodus township fire department. (Staff photo)

Court Rejects Lid On N-Plants

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Court of Appeals has rejected an effort to close or limit production at the Palisades nuclear plant in South Haven, Mich., and 19 other nuclear generating facilities.

Friends of the Earth, a national environmental group, and consumer advocate Ralph Nader contended that the plants could not be operated safely and that the lives of millions are threatened by the possible release of radioactivity in the event of accidents.

The U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia turned down their petition in July 1973 and the three-judge appellate court agreed Friday.

The appellate court said it found the Atomic Energy Commission, predecessor agency of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, acted properly in 1971 in developing and adopting criteria for emergency core cooling systems for the plants and in later rejecting the challenge to the criteria.

A Nader spokesman said no decision has been made on a possible appeal.

son, Mich., recently resumed full operation after a shutdown of almost 20 months because of leaks in the core cooling system. The firm replaced thousands of tubes to counter the problem.

a national home."

Ford in response hailed the Egyptian president as a wise statesman and said, "We understand quite clearly the historical significance of your policies."

U.S. officials said Egyptian terms have hardened since the collapse of Kissinger's attempt in March to negotiate another Israeli withdrawal in the Sinai desert.

Ford and Sadat conferred for about 90 minutes Sunday, trading analyses of the tough Middle East situation and listing potential peace-seeking options.

Two SJ Boys Are Arrested

Two 15-year-old St. Joseph boys were arrested in connection with the theft of a tape player and tapes and the attempted theft of an auto, St. Joseph police reported.

The two youths were petitioned to juvenile court on charges of attempting to unlawfully drive away an auto. One youth was additionally charged with larceny over $100. One boy was released to the custody of his parents, while the other was lodged in the Berrien juvenile detention center. Both were arrested Sunday.

Police reported the arrests were made after investigation into the attempted theft of an auto owned by Robert C. Farmer, of 2115 South State street, on Saturday and the theft of a tape player and tapes valued at $144 from a car owned by James Jonatzke, 1935 West Hinchman road, Baroda, while parked at 1622 Forbes avenue, Sunday.

Evers Attended Klan Function

NATCHEZ, Miss. (AP) — Fayette Mayor Charles Evers has told a standing-room-only crowd he once put on a bedsheet and attended a Ku Klux Klan function.

And Evers, speaking Sunday night during a rock concert which capped the 3rd annual Mississippi Homecoming, introduced two men whom he identified as former Klan officials.

Better Economic Climate Predicted

that the employment outlook for this year's graduates is even worse than they had foreseen.

Hiring will be down by 18 per cent, the council estimates, the first decline in four years. Adding to the gloomy expectations was the estimate that the situation might not improve appreciably until next spring.

Any homemaker who has been living at the limit of his or her budget is also likely to get a drenching over the next few months, and perhaps even years. There is almost no prospect of appreciably lower food prices, for example.

In fact, as the administration's economists released their midyear estimates there was ominous news coming from the Agriculture Department. Farm prices are rising again.

There are other areas of bad news too, lingering consequences of the terrible storm that the nation's economy has been through. Each area of improvement is matched by a setback. Each advance seems to be followed by a retreat.

Statistics produce meaningful generalities for policymakers perhaps, but the mass is made up of individuals, and individuals care about their specific selves, not the generalities.

Today's Grads Face 'Different' Challenges

Mrs. Milliken Addresses LMC Graduates, Guests

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Urging today's youth to continue to be a dissenting generation, Michigan's first lady Saturday stressed to Lake Michigan college graduates that they are living in an era of change.

"It is time to change the age of affluence into an age of humanity, in which the best measure of human worth will no longer be the measure of one's

Teacher Strike, Business Tax Bills Face Fight

By PETE YOST
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Teacher strike legislation and a plan to revamp state business taxation may consume the attention of the Michigan House for several weeks.

The business tax bill is a key to the $3 billion budget lawmakers have barely begun to write. The new fiscal year begins July 1 but many lawmakers expect to work well into July before passing a fiscal plan.

Legislative leaders predict a noisy floor fight this week over the school strike bill and expect lengthy arguments from lawmakers who seek exemptions, for various industries under the business tax plan.

The teacher strike fight features a labor faction favoring open-ended strike provisions and moderates who want to avoid prolonged walkouts.

House Speaker Bobby Crim, D-Davison, said the bill must be revised to contain harsher

HE WAS BEST: Ron Butler, an eighth grader at Andrews Junior Academy, Berrien Springs, won first prize at Buchanan Middle School recently in declamation contest for Berrien County seventh and eighth graders. wealth, but the measure of one's humanness toward others," said Mrs. Helen Milliken, wife of Gov. William G. Milliken.

The first lady directed her comments to LMC's 288 graduates — the third largest number in the school's history — during the 28th annual commencement exercises.

Friends, family, and guests packed the LMC gymnasium and applauded soundly as degrees were bestowed on the graduates and five prominent women who were awarded honorary associate degrees.

Eight students were graduated with, highest honors for maintaining straight-A averages in all their studies, while 43 more graduated with high honors and another 90 with honors.

Emily Foster, treasurer of the college's board of trustees, presented honorary degrees to Mrs. Milliken; Mrs. Janice Hutchinson, wife of U.S. Congressman Edward Hutchinson; Dr. Marie Martin, director of the Community College unit in the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare; Berrien County Probate Judge Zoe S. Burkholz; and Mrs. Bergliot Zollar, wife of State Senator Charles O. Zollar.

Titling her commencement address "Women and the World Today," Mrs. Milliken initially spoke of women, but gradually shifted the emphasis to what both women and men must do to change the future.

"I am saddened that we still find it necessary to make these distinctions between the sexes," she said. "That we still find it necessary — and it is necessary — to single out a particular year and designate it as International Women's Year."

"However, I am encouraged by the knowledge that the day is coming — and coming rapidly — when we will be able to cope equally well with the differences that separate the sexes, and with the equality that unites them."

She told the graduates that the challenges that face them are different from those faced by their parents, or even older brothers and sisters.

"One of the great challenges you face today (is) to cope with a pool of resources that appears to be dwindling, or at least is more clearly defined than ever before."

Mrs. Milliken told the graduates that the hardest task of all would not be maintaining a place in competitive society or updating skills to get a promotion, but "protecting your principles against the human and institutional pressures of your surroundings."

"I hope you will continue to be a dissenting generation," the governor's wife prodded. "I hope you will dissent from the past because the past has not been very satisfactory. I hope you will sometimes dissent from the majority when you decide that the majority is wrong."

"But I hope you will never dissent from the enduring principles that have withstood the test of history — honesty with yourself and others, toleration for the ideas of others, and freedom for others to pursue their destinies."

Degrees and certificates were presented to graduates by Dr. B.C. Radde, chairman of the board of trustees, and Dr. Walter Browne, executive vice president, and Dr. Richard Creal, vice president of instruction. Introductions were by Emily Foster and the invocation and benediction by the Rev. Timothy L. Knauff, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran church in Stevensville.

Commencement music selections were provided by the LMC Symphonic Wind Ensemble under the direction of Dr. Donald K. Moely, music department head.

Students receiving highest honors for straight-A averages included Deborah Seager, Debra Korrell, Peggy Lee Webb, Mrs. Joan M. Meek, Sue Burda, Geoff Isaac, Frank F. Loomis, III, and Carl Coffee.

Gov. William Milliken's business tax would replace eight existing taxes with a single 2.05 per cent tax on profits, payroll and interest.

Business tax legislation has already been rewritten so that interstate shippers would pay less than other businesses. Also, exemptions for small businesses have been raised from $15,000 to $25,000 and labor-intensive industries would get tax breaks worth $35 million to $40 million.

Legislative leaders, however, have been deluged with complaints from doctors, accountants and lawyers whose tax bills would increase under the plan.

Milliken says a quarterly payment plan in the business tax bill could add a badly needed $180 million to balance the 1975-76 budget.

Meanwhile, a controversial measure in the Senate would force local units of government to roll back their millages by the same amount if the state Tax Commission raises county property tax values.

WOMEN OF THE YEAR: Twenty-nine women were honored with "Woman of the Year" awards Saturday during luncheon prior to Lake Michigan college graduation ceremonies. This year has been designated International Women's Year, and award winners were recognized for contributions to their communities, politics, organizations and general betterment of man — or woman — kind. Recipients included (seated, from left): Mrs. Frances Laity Mrs.

ADULTS GRADUATE TOO: Illustrating that not all college graduates are young people, these five were among a number of adults who receive Lake Michigan college diplomas during Saturday's commencement. Two of women are mothers of total of 17 children, two are nuns, and other is sheriff of Berrien county. Chatting about their "good old college days" are

Supreme Court Out Of Money

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan's Supreme Court has run out of money, but state officials say there's little chance that more than 570 judges and other court employees will miss any pay days this month.

The court's checking account balance was on "the teeter-totter edge," following payday last Thursday, said state Accounting Director Donald L. Powers. "They're out of money."

Court officials cited increasing caseloads and higher costs fueled by inflation for its fiscal headache. The payroll covers appellate and local court judges and staff statewide as well as Supreme Court employees.

A supplemental funding bill was approved last week in the House Appropriations Committee for $1.66 million — 40 per cent less than the court asked.

The measure requires House and Senate approval. Einar Bohlin, administrator of the Supreme Court, warned, "If the legislature doesn't give us enough money, we may have to lay some people off."

"We've been making every economy we can. We've been watching travel, mailings, phone calls," said Bohlin.

Two weeks ago the Supreme Court employed 96 persons, compared to 94 in mid-March. The payroll also included 134 Appeals Court employees, including judges, and state supplemental pay for 322 circuit and district judges.

Each bi-weekly payroll totals more than $500,000. The next will be made June 12, and despite the fact the court is nearly broke, it isn't likely that anyone's check envelope will be empty.

"With indication of legislative intent, I'm sure the treasury will honor our drafts" if the court's checking account runs out of money, Bohlin said.

The state Constitution prohibits spending funds without prior legislative appropriation, noted Gerald Miller, director of the state Department of Management and Budget.

However, Miller said, should the chairman of both House and Senate Appropriation committees assure him funds would be forthcoming, he would authorize payment of court payrolls.

Some judges, especially those of the State Court of Appeals, have been criticized for driving expensive cars loaded with options at taxpayer expense and for furnishing their offices with tax-paid frills.

Schools May Get Lottery Revenues

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Lottery revenues would be earmarked for education under a measure passed by the Michigan House.

The bill is designed to lend some substance to the old promises of lottery proponents. They implied at the time the games were approved by the voters in 1972 that education would be the beneficiary.

Actually, the money simply goes into the general fund, providing for education and a lot of other things, too.

So some people are still asking: "Where does the lottery money go?"

The Lottery Bureau tells people 44 per cent goes for education, 39 per cent for human services and 17 per cent for other purposes — the same as the rest of the general fund money.

"That's the breakdown of the general fund," said Dave Hanson, a lottery bureau spokesman. "It's sort of mythical to apply it to lottery money."

So state Rep. Matthew McNeely sponsored the bill earmarking the funds for education only.

"People don't understand where the lottery money goes, and legislators are catching hell," said McNeely, D-Detroit. "People get asked for more taxes for education, and they say, 'But you've got all that lottery money.'"

But McNeely's bill wouldn't increase total education spending. Instead, less money would be taken from the general fund to support education.

For example, the state expects to earn $64 million this fiscal year from lottery ticket sales. That $64 million would be tagged for education, and education spending from the general fund would be reduced by the same amount.

The lottery bureau generally doesn't care where the money goes or how it gets there. "Our job is to raise the money, and it's up to the legislature how to spend it," Hanson said.

McNeely said the matter boils down to public confidence in government.

"We told the public that the lottery would bring in more money for education and we implied it would be used for education," he said. "The public believed that, and we put the money in the general fund where everybody gets a shot at it."

"Somewhere we have to get the people's confidence and we can't get that confidence by implying one thing and doing something else. We can do that by earmarking the money."

"The whole idea is that somewhere we need to be fair when we come up with a proposal," McNeely said. "People will know where the entire lottery amount goes — they'll understand it will be earmarked and will be inclined to buy more tickets."

LOW PRODUCTION: A flashing sign overlooking the intersection of the Edsel Ford and Chrysler freeways in Detroit heralds the construction of every auto built in America to Detroit rush hour traffic headed home Friday afternoon. Congress Fights Probe Into Free Mail Usage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both the Senate and House are fighting subpoenas seeking testimony and records about alleged abuses of free mailing privileges by their members.

The subpoenas were issued in connection with a lawsuit, filed by Common Cause, seeking to end taxpayer-financed mass mailings by members of Congress.

Among the items being withheld are records of complaints received by the Senate and House bodies that are supposed to deal with abuses of the freemail or "franking" privilege. Records of what happened to those complaints are likewise being kept in Congress' file cabinets.

Also being withheld are records that would show what materials were mailed at taxpayer expense by each member of the Senate and House.

The House has refused even to allow its employees to appear to give testimony in the lawsuit. The Senate has allowed some testimony, but won't disclose its records.

Testimony and documents already on file in the lawsuit show that much of the mail Congress sends at taxpayer expense is tied directly to the reelection campaigns of Senate and House members.

Among the disclosures so far: Two direct-mail experts, on the Senate payroll at $19,000 a year and $25,000 a year respectively, advised several incumbent Republicans on how to use "official" franked mail to get votes.

A manual setting up a model campaign schedule for Senate Democrats refers to newsletters as a "free forum."

Kishkorn Charges Dropped

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — The attorney for Kent County Commissioner Stephen Kishkorn says criminal fraud charges against Kishkorn have been dropped in Colombia.

But Grand Rapids attorney William Reamon said Kishkorn could not leave the South American country for about a week because Kishkorn needs to wrap up "legal technicalities."

Reamon did not elaborate. Reamon said Kishkorn may go anywhere in Colombia but must report to police at regular intervals.

The criminal fraud charges involved Kishkorn's alleged failure to pay a leather goods firm, Cartimbers Titan Ltd. of Cali, for about $20,000 worth of leather handbags.

Kishkorn has filed a counter-suit, claiming the merchandise was of poor quality. Another suit involving the alleged failure to pay is pending in Kent County circuit court.

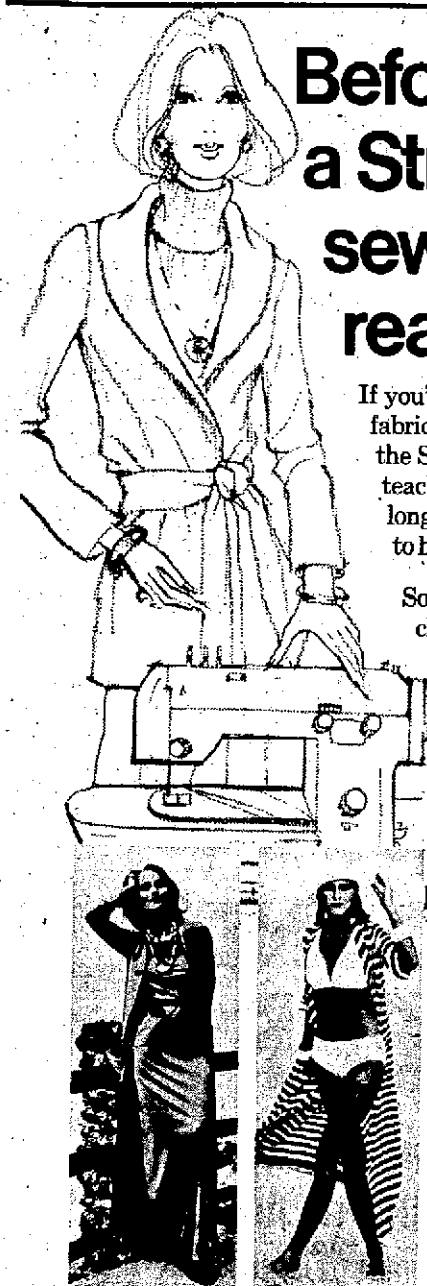

Kishkorn was arrested April 30 on San Andreas Island on charges of attempted murder and marijuana possession. The charges were dropped two weeks later. But he was then arrested on the fraud charges.

Kishkorn has said he went to Colombia to complete a land transaction. He contended his arrest on the original charges was triggered by his effort to seek a divorce.

and tells when they should be sent during the campaign.

—Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., in 1973 approved a tax-financed mail program intended to pay off for him on election day, according to testimony of a former aide. Javits was unavailable for comment, but another aide said the senator sends franked mail even when he isn't running, and that it "has nothing to do with voters per se."

'Wheel' Is Turning A Bit Slowly

DETROIT (AP) — Overlooking the intersection of the Edsel Ford and Chrysler freeways in Detroit is a huge flashing sign heralding the construction of every auto built in America.

With car sales depressed and worker layoffs endemic, the sign moves more slowly now; but even in a bad year it is up to 2.5 million.

The auto production board is the annual pulse beat of Michigan's economy. It is a fitting monument to the giant role the auto industry plays in Michigan.

State experts say the auto industry is to Michigan's economy what a wheel is to a car.

"To say the auto industry is vital is an understatement," says an official at the state Department of Budget and Management. "In many respects, the auto industry is Michigan."

The numbers are staggering. Even in a poor sales year like 1974, the Big Three auto makers pumped an estimated $16 billion into the state's economy and provided employment for more than 400,000 Michiganders, company figures show.

State records for last year reveal the industry accounted for 10 per cent of total employment, 17 per cent of all wages and salaries, and 22 per cent of personal income taxes.

The figures do not include thousands of other firms which produce auto-related materials, ranging from metals to fabrics to axles.

"It's clear the auto industry is the key factor in Michigan's economy and will continue in that role for the indefinite future," says W. Michael Blumenthal, chairman of the Michigan Economic Action Council. "The entire state depends on it."

When the industry suffers a downturn, as has occurred for the past 20 months, "the burden on Michigan's economy is very severe," says Blumenthal, president of Bendix Corp., a major automotive supplier.

The impact is felt everywhere, right down to the retail level. When auto sales fall, so does food, clothing, appliances, you name it."

Wayne State University economist John Mattila explains: "It's known as the multiplier effect. When employment and income drop in a major industry, the ability to buy on a local level goes down, causing a rippling pattern of falling sales and employment everywhere."

PLANTING WITHOUT PLOWING: Testing tradition by planting 10 acres of corn without first plowing the field is all part of an agriculture project being undertaken by agriculture students at Southwestern Michigan college. Wayne Hothem, Cass county extension director (right), discusses the project with Don Fields of Chevron Chemical Co., while students John Kuharic (driver) of Crumstown, Ind., and Dave Rittase of Hartford operate special no-till planter.

Feasible In Southwest Michigan? SMC To Test No-Till Planting

A project to learn whether no-till planting of corn is applicable to southwestern Michigan is being undertaken by Southwestern Michigan college agriculture students, in cooperation with the Cass county Cooperative Extension service and Chevron Chemical Co.

Twelve acres of corn, two acres planted in the traditional way and 10 acres planted after only spraying the existing ground cover, have been planted adjacent to the SMC campus on Cherry Grove Road, Dowagiac. The no-till process, which ac-ording to Dr. Clark Nicklow of SMC's agriculture department, would save farmers days of pre-planting soil preparation, works best on a field covered by some type of vegetation, because the vegetation, although dead, helps hold moisture in the soil. The no-till planter cuts a single slit in the ground, into which the seed corn is planted. The planter can cut through debris that might be found in the unplowed soil. A farmer using the no-till method year after year would probably seed the field with cover vegetation late in the growing season, perhaps by air, according to Nicklow. The cover would then be killed off the following year just prior to planting.

Bloomingtondale Will Vote On $4 Million Bond Issue

BLOOMINGTONDALE — Voters in the Bloomingtondale school district will be asked to approve a $4 million bond issue to finance school building construction and a one-year property tax levy of 18.5 mills for operations in the annual school election June 9.

Voters will also decide who will fill a four-year term on the school board from a field of five candidates. Seeking election to the board position being vacated by its present member Rebecca Thomas are Maxine McIntyre, James Muenzer, Shirley Huggens, Fredrick Rawson and Burnett Givhan. A sixth candidate, Horace Martin, who had initially filed for the board opening, has withdrawn from the race.

If voters approve the bond issue, money from the sale would finance construction of a new high school; renovation of the present high school for use as a middle school; and renovation of elementary schools in Bloomingtondale and Pullman.

A property tax levy of about 5.9 mills would be required to pay off the bond issue, according to Nathan Baylor Jr., school board president.

A major construction program has been under study by the school administration for about a year. High school and middle school students have been on half-day schedules for over three years because of overcrowding that has forced the school to use 11 portable classrooms.

Of the 18.5 mills for operations, 16.5 is renewal of millage that expired with the last tax collection in December. If the levy is approved, it would raise about $356,000 in tax revenue for the district. The school system's preliminary budget for the 1975-76 year has been pegged at $1,612,852.

If voters approve both money issue requests, the total millage rate in the district would be 35.48 mills, including 8.58 mills allocated by the county. Last year's total rate was 27.58 mills.

Among the candidates, Mrs. McIntyre, 46, 205 East Kalamazoo street, Bloomingtondale, is employed as a registered clinical secretary and emergency medical technician at the Goble Medical clinic. Mrs. McIntyre is a licensed attendant for the Pinedale ambulance service and a member of the Bloomingtondale volunteer fire department. She and her husband, Robert, have two children.

Muenzer, 28, route 4, Allegan, is general manager of the Independent Tool and Manufacturing company, Bloomingtondale. He and his wife, Linda, have a son.

State Marketbasket Decline Led By Drop In Sugar Cost

By MARTIN HIRSCHMAN
Associated Press Writer

Led by a sharp drop in sugar costs, grocery prices in Michigan fell more than one per cent last month to their lowest level since the Michigan Associated Press Marketbasket survey began eight months ago.

The price of the 15 Marketbasket items fell to a statewide average of $13.66, down from $13.84 in April. The first marketbasket last September cost $14.04, and the previous low was $13.71 in March.

The price of a five-pound bag of sugar fell from an average $1.69 in April to $1.37, with sharp declines reported in all nine of the cities in the survey. Sugar prices, the most volatile item on the shopping list, peaked at an average $2.89 in November. It was more than twice the May figure, the lowest for sugar since the survey began. The previous low was $1.76 last month.

Chocolate chip cookies, the only other sugar-related item in the marketbasket, dropped from $1.01 in April to 96 cents, tying the low set in October and January.

The price of a dozen medium eggs also declined to a record low of 56 cents in May from the previous low of 63 cents the month before. Eggs were 75 cents when the survey began and peaked at 83 cents in December.

The only major increases were in meat products. The price of a pound of all-beef franks rose nine cents to $1.27, topping the previous high of $1.21 set in November.

A pound of center-cut pork chops hit $1.79, 10 cents above the April figure and a penny higher than the old record set in December. A pound of chopped chuck rose three cents to $1.13.

The price of a six-ounce frozen orange juice, one of the most stable items in the marketbasket, rose a penny to 30 cents. A pound of quartered butter, another item which has varied little, was off a penny at 88 cents.

An eight-ounce tomato juice cost 19 cents in May, down from 20 cents in April. A 49-ounce laundry detergent was up a cent to $1.16, and peanut butter fell a penny to 65 cents.

Coffee was unchanged at $1.25 for a pound tin. Two rolls of paper towels were 74 cents, the same as in April. A quarter of milk was unchanged at 45 cents.

The price of the marketbasket declined most sharply in Lansing, with an 8 per cent drop from $14.16 in April to $12.97 in May. There were major price drops on chopped chuck and pork chops, as well as sugar and cookies.

In Flint, the marketbasket dropped 5 per cent from $13.59 in April to $12.91 last month. There were declines on eggs and sugar.

Prices also dropped from $14.05 to $13.69 in Detroit; from $13.40 to $13.33 in Mount Clemens and from $13.88 to $13.85 in St. Joseph.

The largest increase was in Marquette, where higher costs for pork chops and franks sent the marketbasket up 30 cents to $13.77.

Prices rose nine cents to $14.01 in Gaylord, 13 cents to $14.12 in Grand Rapids and eight cents to $14.22 in Pontiac.

Here are the statewide averages for the 15 grocery items which comprise the AP Marketbasket, for April and May:

1. One pound chopped chuck: April $1.10, May $1.13.
2. One pound center-cut pork chops: $1.69, $1.79.
3. Six-ounce frozen orange juice: 29 cents, 30 cents.
4. One pound coffee: $1.25, unchanged.
5. Two rolls paper towels: 74 cents, unchanged.
6. Dozen medium eggs: 63 cents, 56 cents.
7. One pound butter, quartered: 89 cents, 88 cents.
8. 49-ounce laundry detergent: $1.15, $1.16.
9. Fabric softener, size varies: 84 cents, 88 cents.
10. 12-ounce peanut butter: 66 cents, 65 cents.
11. Eight-ounce tomato sauce: 20 cents, 19 cents.
12. 14½-ounce chocolate chip cookies: $1.01, 96 cents.

13. One quart milk: 45 cents, unchanged.

14. One pound all-beef franks: $1.18, $1.27.

15. Five pounds sugar: $1.76, $1.37.

Here is the city-by-city, item-by-item price for May, followed by the total Marketbasket price for April and May (parentheses indicate most recently available figure, item unavailable this month):

What Your Reading Habits Tell

"True or False: Some people use reading not as a means of enjoyment or enlightenment, but simply as a narcotic."

In the same way that our clothes and overall life-style are reflections of our personality, so are our reading habits. This week's "People Quiz" focuses on how what we read and how we read are clues not only to our social and economic status, but also to our emotional being.

Read it Saturday in Family Weekly magazine, a regular feature of The Herald-Palladium.

When you contact BERRIEN to sell your home, our goals are the same as yours: to sell your property quickly for the best price.

important asset. Implied is the public's trust in us and in our ethics and consideration for others.

One of the ways in which we accomplish this goal is through advertising, which is designed to produce prospective buyers who will contact our real estate office. Surveys show that fewer than 5% of the people who respond to an ad purchase the property about which they originally inquired. So it's not just the individual ad featuring your property that's working for you, but all of our advertising efforts.

The classified ad is the most common of our tools. We know how and where to advertise your property for your best advantage. We select newspapers and schedule ads so that they will reach the maximum number of potential buyers.

A classified ad must conform to provisions of the Truth in Lending Act of 1968. Basically, the law restricts the language that can be used in advertising relating to terms of purchase or financing.

Institutional advertising is another of our tools, and often proves the most profitable. Institutional advertising is designed to create goodwill and prestige. Goodwill is our must.

It was Roy Rogers' birthday and Dale Evans bought him a new pair of shoes. He was so pleased with his new shoes that he put them on immediately and then he got on his horse and went for a ride on the range. While he was out on the range, he was attacked by a vicious mountain lion that chewed his new shoes. He got so angry that he killed the lion and threw it across his horse and rode back to the ranch, where Dale Evans greeted him and said, "PARDON ME, ROY, IS THAT THE CAT THAT CHEWED YOUR NEW SHOES?"

If you have a story that is funnier, send it to me.

Sulky Business Fills A Void

By KARL D. ALBRECHT
TURNER, Mich. (AP) — To call Joe Hollenbeck a jack of all trades for those who race trotting horses is a bit like calling a library a bookshelf.

Hollenbeck manufactures and repairs every sort of horse trotting equipment except harnesses and races horses himself.

Last year he built a 40-by-80-foot shop across the driveway from his home. This still is his base, but he travels all over Michigan, particularly to county fairs. He races his own horses and does blacksmith and repair work for other horse racers.

This was the way of life that eventually led him into his own business.

"I couldn't find repairs anywhere, so I started my own shop two and a half years ago," Hollenbeck said.

At this point, he began making "bikes," the sulkies used in the trotting races, turning out 143 his first year.

A sulky is a two-wheeled frame with a small seat in the middle and a harp-shaped set of curved poles attached. They go along either side of the trotting horse, and the horse's harness is attached to them.

Light weight and flexibility, which contribute to the maneuverability of the sulky, are important.

This is one of the two basic reasons many drivers now use tubular steel shafts such as Hollenbeck makes.

The other is hard cash.

"Steel is easier and cheaper to fix. A bike costs about $200 to make with steel, without the wheels. But wood costs about $500," Hollenbeck said.

The ratio for repairs is similar because it is simpler to rebend and reweld twisted metal than it is to splice broken wood.

And, wood shafts are heavier and usually do not hold paint as well.

Most of Hollenbeck's shafts are painted red with white pin-stripes.

"Red seems to be the favorite color for drivers," he said.

At the present, Hollenbeck believes, he is the only active blacksmith north of Flint.

In addition to bike making and repair and blacksmithing, Hollenbeck trains and boards horses.

"I do a little bit of just about anything that comes my way," he said. "You have to, to survive. You can't afford to put all your eggs in one basket."

HE'S VERSATILE: Joe Hollenbeck of Arenac county trains horses, shoes them and builds his own racing sulkies. He races horses, too. (AP Wirephoto)

Christian Science Mother Church Has A New Look

BOSTON, Mass. — The First Church of Christ, Scientist, here — often called The Mother Church — has just opened a new front door. In fact, it's the first time the historic edifice has had a main entrance, and the familiar Back Bay landmark is suddenly drawing fresh attention. The new entrance has columns and carvings and examples of old-world stonework craftsmanship rarely called for by builders these days. In fact, the search for artisans trained to do the delicate work was one of the unique challenges of the project.

The new portico front marks the completion of a process that began at the turn of the century. The original First Church of Christ, Scientist, here, a modest stone Romanesque building, was completed in 1894. But it wasn't big enough for the growing congregations attracted by Christian Science. A huge, domed extension was completed in 1906. Today the original is still tucked beside the Byzantine shoulders of the extension, and is still cherished by church members because of the pioneering effort it represents.

The new entryway has broad steps which open onto terraced and brick-paved walkways, and landscaped spaces that flow to other parts of the Church center.

The Christian Science Publishing society is on one side, The Mother Church Sunday school on the other.

Ten 42-foot limestone columns form the portico's classic half-rotunda. Just beyond the columns are revolving doors set in a glass wall reinforced by bronze bands. These doors lead to a ground floor lobby where two elevators take churchgoers and visitors to the auditorium and its balconies.

Passersby will have a clear line of sight to the auditorium where tiers of organ pipes fill an archway behind the main platform from which two Readers conduct church services.

The columns were turned and carved from Indiana limestone. On top are six-ton Corinthian capitals, hand-carved to match the intricate detail of the older parts of the building. The capitals are the largest the limestone contractor can ever remember carving. They are five feet high and nine feet across diagonally at the top and four feet in diameter at the bottom.

Cut from 33-ton blocks of stone and carved by the last known carving team in Indiana, the capitals took more than a year to finish. Each averaged from 500 to 700 man-hours of carving time.

A sunburst rose window, set in a circular parapet beneath a gabled roof, has twelve petals and is ten feet in diameter. Its stained glass will be illuminated from the inside.

No ceremonies marked the May opening of the portico and the formal completion of the center. Instead, in a brief statement, The Christian Science board of directors called for "works instead of words" and "renewed dedication on the part of Christian Scientists in a time when spiritual values are being tested more sharply than ever before by the materialism of modern life."

"Mary Baker Eddy, who founded the Church of Christ, Scientist, believed it possible to reinstate primitive Christianity and its lost element of healing even in the midst of a scientific age," Board member DeWitt John commented. "This is proving practical," he said, "but it is a cause requiring strong moral and spiritual devotion on the part of those who would seriously enlist in it."

Particular gratitude was expressed by the directors to Christian Scientists throughout the world whose contributions made the Christian Science Center possible.

NEW FRONT DOOR: When Christian Scientists from around the world gathered for today's annual meeting of members of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., they were welcomed by a new portico entrance to church. Completion of entry is final step in new construction at Christian Science Center. The 26-story Church administration building, finished two years ago, is at far left.

Spiritual Power Needed To Fight Materialism

BOSTON, Mass. — The victimizing effects of materialism need to be countered with spiritual power, the members of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, were told here today.

"Obedience to God's law," declared incoming Chairman of The Christian Science board of directors, Otto Bertschi, "illuminates individual consciousness and saves the individual from the fearful contemporary picture of vast public and private institutions, against which ordinary men and women too often feel helpless and ineffective."

Bertschi is the first overseas member of the denomination's administrative governing board. A native of Zurich, he served as a Christian Science practitioner, teacher, and lecturer in the years leading to his election to the board in 1972. He was Christian Science committee on publication for German-speaking Switzerland from 1957 to 1963. He recently visited branch churches in central and southern Africa. There are more than 3,000 branches in 57 countries.

"It is vital that we separate the hypnotic claims of material power," the chairman said, "from the true power that belongs to God." He said "divine power always acts through spiritual illumination." Bertschi urged all members to reaffirm the spiritual power of Christianity, calling for "new vision to match new challenges."

An estimated 12,000 members heard the keynote speech. There are 106 branches of The Mother Church in Michigan according to A. Dean Joki, committee on publication for Michigan.

A new Century edition of the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, was announced at the meeting. It honors the 100th anniversary of the first edition of the book. Also announced were forthcoming translations of the textbook into Japanese and Indonesian.

Mrs. Eddy, whose radical devotion to Christianity began as the result of a physical healing keyed to Bible study, founded the Church of Christ, Scientist in 1879. She later explained the experience and its Christian basis in "Science and Health," published first in 1875.

Jules Cern of New York City was named president of The Mother Church for the coming year. He succeeds Mrs. Georgina Tennant of London who had been president for the past year.

Bertschi also announced completion of new construction at the church center here. Since 1968, three new buildings, a plaza and reflecting pool, underground garage and a new main entrance to The Mother Church have been finished.

Bertschi said overall administrative costs at The Mother Church will be down 20 percent in 1975. Cost-cutting plus an increase in contributions from members, he indicated, were helping the church cope with inflationary times.

"God will support every advancing step," he told the members. "Let us never underestimate the healing power that is released when we work together as a church and as a movement."

The theme of the meeting was "The Power of God's Word."

The Instant It Happened

ONCE MORE, WITH FEELING

Frenchmen watch and do not forget. This is the route the Nazis marched every noon-time for four dark years in the city of light, from the Arc de Triomphe down the Champs Elysees to the Place de la Concorde, arrogance on parade, rubbing French noses in defeat.

That is over now. Paris is again free. The last German sniper is dead. Four days after liberation, Aug. 29, 1944, some 15,000 Americans march shoulder-to-shoulder down the famed Parisian boulevard.

To the Americans of the 29th division, it is only a glimpse of the city, a brush with an old obligation. "Lafayette, we are here," their fathers said in World War I. "Lafayette, Kilroy is here," they say now.

They are here only briefly now, sent reluctantly by Dwight Eisenhower in answer to a plea from Charles DeGaulle for a show of force to establish order. By nightfall, they are back in the line against the Germans.

The Yanks had fought all the way from the beaches of Normandy, the worst being in the ancient hedgerows so thick only tanks with special huge blades could cut through. Finally, on July 25, they broke through the crust of German defenses at St. Lo. George Patton then raced through the breach, freed the Brittany peninsula and its vital ports and turned east, trying to catch and smash as many retreating German units on the road as he could before they reassembled behind the Siegfried line.

Now, after the fall of Paris, with more than 2 million men stretched in the north-south line, four great spearheads of Allied armor raced east through France and Belgium, at a clip of 20 to 30 miles a day. Ahead of them lay the Siegfried line, the Rhine and a bridge at Remagen and place called Bastogne, where Hitler would gamble for the last death rattle of the Wehrmacht.

Pete Carroll, a young Associated Press photographer, was by now a veteran of Normandy and the sweep across France. He photographed the last street fighting in Paris ducking rifle fire. On the day the Champs Elysees was carpeted with curb-to-curb GIs, he shared the back of an army truck with Harry Harris of the AP. They tossed a coin for the shot and Carroll made the picture, desperately trying to steady his camera over the bumping wheels.

Beef, Pork Prices Heading Up

The first five months of 1973 brought lower prices for super-market shoppers, but a new round of increases may be just around the corner, an Associated Press marketbasket survey shows.

Sugar and eggs continued to decline during May, following the pattern set in the early part of this year. But the savings for consumers were partially offset by increases in the price of beef and pork, and the Agriculture Department says egg prices will rise in coming months due to a decrease in the supply.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and non-food items, checked the price on March 1, 1973, and has rechecked each succeeding month. The day of the week on which the check was made varied according to the month.

The latest check showed the bill in every city was lower than it was at the start of the year when prices were at or near record highs. On the average, the decline was 8.3 per cent.

During May, the market-basket total declined in 10 cities, down an average 1.9 per cent, and increased in three, up an average 2.7 per cent. In April, however, the marketbasket total declined in every city, down an average 2.9 per cent.

Also on the gloomy side: prices at the end of May were 9.9 per cent higher than they were a year earlier, and there were fewer individual price declines during May than there were during April.

The increases had been expected and reflected generally higher prices paid at the wholesale level.

Cattlemen, discouraged by low prices for beef in the first part of 1973, have been keeping their animals in pastures, waiting for prices to go up again. A drop in supply means an increase in prices.

The price of a pound of chopped chuck increased during May in 18 of the cities checked, with increases ranging from 5 per cent in Albuquerque, N.M., where the price went from $1.18 to $1.24 a pound, to 62 per cent in Dallas, where the price went from 98 cents to $1.59 a pound.

Pork chops also went up in price in eight cities, and the Agriculture Department has said pork prices probably will continue to rise as supplies decrease and demand for something other than beef increases.

Prices of eggs — one substitute for meat as a source of protein — continued to drop, down in 11 cities during May. But the USDA has said, "Reduced egg supplies, combined with higher prices for most high-protein foods, are expected to boost egg prices well above a year earlier in coming months."

Sugar prices also continued their decline and were at their lowest level since the middle of last summer. May decreases in the price of a five-pound sack of sugar ranged from 11 per cent in Albuquerque to 27 per cent in Boston. In several cities, sugar was selling for $1.39 for a five-pound sack and the highest price in the survey was $1.78 at the New York City check store.

Sugar prices at the stores checked in The AP survey had hit a high of $3.07 for five pounds, generally around last December. The low during the survey period was an average 71 cents for five pounds in the early part of 1973.

Predictions as to what will happen during the rest of 1973 vary, with most government and industry experts saying food prices depend on whether harvests are as large as expected. The Agriculture Department has said the rate of increase should decline and adds that if farmers get bumper crops, the 1973 food price boost should be about 6 or 8 per cent, compared to 14.5 per cent in each of the past two years.

Rockefeller's CIA Panel Winds Up 5-Month Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Rockefeller Commission is winding up its five-month investigation of the CIA amid controversy over whether President John F. Kennedy and his brother, Robert, were involved in alleged efforts to kill Cuban Premier Fidel Castro.

The eight-member panel headed by Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller is scheduled to hold its final meeting later today to review the report it will deliver to President Ford on Friday.

There has been no public evidence linking either President Kennedy or then Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy directly to a plot to kill Castro.

A former high-ranking Defense Department official said Friday that, while acting on orders from President Kennedy delivered through an intermediary, he developed contingency plans for removing Castro by any means, including assassination.

The former official, retired Air Force Maj. Gen. Edward G. Lansdale, hinted strongly but refused to state that Robert Kennedy was the intermediary. He did not make clear what his specific orders were and in subsequent interviews, Lansdale said: "Neither President Kennedy nor any other Kennedy ever gave me any orders to plan the assassination of Castro."

Lansdale said his planning effort began in 1962 when the United States first received intelligence that Castro was planning to install Soviet-made nuclear missiles in Cuba.

Informed sources have disclosed that the Rockefeller Commission possesses the minutes of an Aug. 10, 1962, meeting at which Cabinet officials discussed the possible assassination of Castro.

The same sources have said the commission has a copy of a subsequent memo written by Lansdale which provided authority for the CIA to develop contingency plans for killing Castro.

Lansdale said he does not remember the memo but acknowledges that it would not be incompatible with his assignment at the time.

Sources have said that the memo deals with a number of subjects and that it contains "three or four words" which were understood by then-CIA Director John A. McCone to provide authority for drawing up assassination plans.

President Kennedy is said to have discussed the possibility of assassinating Castro on at least two occasions, once with former Florida Sen. George A. Smathers and once with journalist Tad Szulc. The recollection of both men is that Kennedy was against the idea.

Western Films Run In Cycles

Horse Operas Verge On Comeback

By BOB THOMAS

Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Is the movie western ready to stage a comeback? Signs on the dusty horizon indicate that it is.

The horse opera has been undergoing one of its periodic slumps in recent times. Even the redoubtable John Wayne has had to don modern clothes ("Brannigan") to find film vehicles.

But the western manages to stage a revival every five years, and a new cycle may be starting.

Richard Brooks has fashioned a crackerjack tale of a cross-country horse race in "Bite the Bullet."

Early reports on "Rooster Cogburn" indicate it is hot enough to warrant a John Wayne-Katharine Hepburn rematch.

Director Tom Gries is taking Charles Bronson out west again in a railroading film, "Breakheart Pass."

"Yes, I think the pendulum is swinging back to the western," agrees Kirk Douglas, who has done his bit by producing, directing and co-starring in "Posse" for Paramount.

"The picture, business got away from westerns, partly because there were so many of them on television.

"But now that 'Gunsmoke' has been canceled, there won't be any westerns on TV. So this might be the time to bring them back to the theaters."

"Westerns have been good to me. I've done a wide range, from the exploring period of the West in 'The Big Sky' for Howard Hawks, through the desperado era with 'Gunfight at OK Corral,' right up to the modern West in 'Lonely Are the Brave.' In that one I hired Carroll O'Connor for his first movie job — he played a truck driver."

Douglas found "Posse" on the shelf at Paramount.

An original story by Christopher Knopf, it concerned a rich Texan who carried his own posse by private train, hunting down outlaws to establish himself as a law-and-order candidate for the United States Senate.

To Douglas the allusion to modern-day politics was intriguing.

He worked with Knopf and William Roberts on the script, which Paramount agreed to sponsor. Douglas cast himself as posse leader.

He remembered Bruce Dern from a small role in "The War Wagon" and cast him as the outlaw who declined to be killed to further Douglas's political career.

"I had another thought about the role of the newspaper editor," said Douglas.

"I had heard about the accident that Jim Stacy had — when he lost an arm and a leg and a girl was killed when his motorcycle collided with a car."

"I got intrigued, and I wondered, 'What would I do if something like that happened to me?'"

"I wondered why the editor couldn't be played by an actor without an arm and leg. No need to explain what happened to him; just show him pecking at a typewriter with one hand and hopping around on one leg. So we wrote the part that way."

"I knew Jim would be uptight about working again. And I knew the one thing he didn't want was for people to be condescending or show him pity."

"I was tough. I told him, 'Look, I'll kick your ass if you don't come through for me.' And he did. He was terrific in the part."

"Posse" is a production of the Bryna Company, which certainly must be the oldest established permanent unfloating production company owned by a star.

Douglas formed Bryna (named for his mother) 20 years ago when it was fashionable for stars to incorporate for independence and-or tax breaks.

Most of the others cashed out for capital gains, but Douglas kept on with Bryna, producing such films as "Indian Fighter," "Paths of Glory," "The Vikings," "Spartacus," "Seven Days in May," "The Arrangement" and others.

One project eluded Bryna. This was "One Flew over the Cuckoo's Nest," in which Douglas had starred on Broadway.

He finally relinquished the property, and it has been produced by Michael Douglas, son of you-know-whom.

Berrien Divorces Granted

The following divorces have been granted in Berrien circuit court:

Knickerbocker, Diane of St. Joseph from Lester. Two children to the mother. Married Aug. 24, 1963.

Breault, Edward of Bridgman from Mary. Two children to the mother. Married Dec. 24, 1964.

Curtiss, John of Coloma from Patricia. Married Oct. 5, 1968.

Williams, Diane of St. Joseph from Connie. One child to the mother. Married Oct. 4, 1969.

Lechenet, Carol of St. Joseph from Ronnie. Three children to the mother. Married July 15, 1966.

Bloom, Robert of Coloma

Watson, Sally of Bridgman from Robert. Married Aug. 11, 1973.

Yeske, Janice of Berrien Springs from Jack. Two children to the mother. Married Dec. 1, 1956.

Murder Suspect Captured

MOCKSVILLE, N.C. (AP) —

A man sought by more than 100 law enforcement officers has been captured in a tobacco barn, climaxing a manhunt that began after the killing of two sheriff's deputies Friday night.

Morrey Joe Campbell, a 29-year-old furniture worker, was taken first to the Davie County jail here and then was removed to a hospital for a checkup.

The Davie County sheriff's office said he was charged with two counts of murder and one count of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill in the deaths of Wayne Gaither, 30, a

Davie County deputy, and reserve Capt. Jack Renigar, of neighboring Forsyth County.

To Transfer Marine

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) —

The United States agreed to transfer a U.S. Embassy Marine guard accused of assaulting a student, and the dominant Communist faction in the Laotian government agreed to let him leave the country, a U.S. Embassy spokesman said.

Ryan's Fourth No-Hitter Only Beginning?

ANAHEIM (AP) — Nolan Ryan thinks he's only just begun. Sandy Koufax agrees. Ryan, like Koufax, is a master of the fastball.

And Ryan, like Koufax, has pitched four no-hitters.

He made excellent use of his changeup and curve for a 1-0 no-hit victory over the Baltimore Orioles Sunday to tie the retired Los Angeles Dodger great for the most no-hitters in a major league career.

"I felt somewhere along the line I might have a chance to tie Koufax," said the California Angels' 26-year-old right-hander. "I don't feel I've reached my peak, but I do feel like I'm getting there this year."

Koufax, who retired in 1966 when Ryan was a 19-year-old with Greenville in the Western Carolina League, said from his retreat near Paso Robles, Calif., that he had no sadness about Ryan matching his four no-hitters.

"There was no doubt he was going to do it. The only question is how many more he's going to pitch," Koufax said. He said the number might reach 10 or 12

"with the kind of fastball he has."

The National League's New York Mets traded Ryan and three others to the Angels in 1971 for third baseman Jim Fregosi. Aid Ryan blossomed in 1972, posting a 19-16 record with 329 strikeouts in his first American League season.

The following year Ryan set an all-time single season major league strikeout mark of 383, bettering by one Koufax's 1965 record.

Ryan had a 21-16 record in 1973 and pitched two no-hitters — against Kansas City and Detroit, both on the road.

Last year he was 22-16 with 367 strikeouts and pitched one more no-hitter, Sept. 28 here against Minnesota on the final night of the season.

Angels' Manager Dick Williams has said he looks for a no-hitter every time Ryan takes the mound.

Ryan doesn't.

"A no-hitter isn't on my mind as it is with some of the fellows on this club," Ryan said after popping a bubble blown with the GUM HE WAS CHEWING.

"Really, I don't think about it. You do that and you're only thinking about yourself. I think I can win enough games without throwing no-hitters all the time."

Sunday he struck out nine and walked four to move his major league won-lost record to 100-85.

He ended the game in classic fashion, perhaps proving how much he's changed from thrower to pitcher. Ryan completed his historic no-hitter by tossing a tantalizing changeup to batter Bobby Grich, who never moved the bat as the third strike sailed past him.

The victory gave Ryan a 9-3 record and an earned-run average of 2.44. His 96 strikeouts top the majors.

"By the sixth inning I knew I had a no-hitter going," Ryan said, "but I never did get the feeling I'd throw one. When it was over, all I could feel was relief."

Elsewhere in the American League, Detroit split with Chicago, winning 5-1 and losing 3-2; Kansas City swept Milwaukee 13-6 and 11-5; Boston outscored Minnesota 11-9; Oakland beat Cleveland 6-3, and New York defeated Texas, 8-4.

John Mayberry homered, drove in six runs and scored five as the Royals punted Milwaukee hurlers for 24 runs in the doubleheader. The Brewers' Hank Aaron, the home run king, rapped four singles in the twinbill to tie Stan Musial for second place on the all-time hit list with 3,699. Ty Cobb leads with 4,191.

Chris Chambliss hit a three-run double and Bobby Bonds belted a two-run homer to back Rudy May's five-hitter and help New York hand the Rangers their eighth loss in nine games.

Claude Washington's two-run homer off Gaylord Perry carried Oakland past Cleveland.

Home runs by Carl Yastrzemski, Fred Lynn, Doug Giffen and Jim Rice helped Boston outscore Minnesota.

Murcer, Baker Power Up Hit Two HRs Each In Giant, Brave Wins

From Associated Press

It isn't often that Bobby Murcer and Dusty Baker hit two home runs in a game. The Montreal Expos and Pittsburgh Pirates could have waited one more game for them to do it.

Murcer belted a pair of tworun homers at windy Jarry Park to help the San Francisco Giants pound the Expos 13-5 Sunday while Baker hit a pair of solo shots to lead the Atlanta Braves past the Pirates 5-2.

"That was the first time I hit two home runs this year," said Murcer who has seven on the year. "They don't come too often."

Baker, who has never hit more than 21 in a season but has 10 already this year, insisted: "Really, I don't start hitting home runs until after the All-Star break. This is the third time I've hit two consecutive homers in the majors. I know my stroke is all right when I hit line drives like that."

The Giants struck for 10 runs over the final three innings. By that time, though, Expos' starter Dave McNally was showered and dressed. He worked five innings and gave up three runs.

Willie Montanez also homered for the Giants while Larry Parrish, Gary Carter, Pete Mackanin and Mike Jorgensen connected for Montreal.

Baker's home runs helped Atlanta knuckleballer Phil Niekro raise his record to 5-4 with a 10-hitter. Niekro, Darrell Evans and Ralph Garr all contributed run-scoring singles.

Elsewhere in the National League, Philadelphia edged Houston 5-4, San Diego blanked New York 4-0, Chicago whipped Los Angeles 7-2 and Cincinnati downed St. Louis 5-1.

Gal Gets Grant

MURRAY, Ky. (AP) — Jackie Joe Mounts, who was named Most Valuable Player in basketball for three consecutive years at Greener High School in Springfield, Ohio, has become the first woman to sign an athletic grant-in-aid at Murray State University.

Philadelphia built a 5-0 lead after five innings, then held on behind Larry Christenson's 3 1-3 innings of scoreless relief.

Greg Luzinski and Mike Anderson each doubled home a run and Jay Johnstone homered for the Phils. Tommy Helms had a two-run single for Houston.

San Diego got two runs in the first inning on a pair of walks, a sacrifice, a wild pitch and an error, and the Mets never recovered.

Alan Foster, 3-1, and Danny Frisella combined on a seven-hitter. Mike Ivie singled in one insurance run in the eighth and Dave Winfield doubled home another in the ninth.

Maury Trillo hit a two-run single, Andy Thorpe homered and Steve Swisher drove in two runs with a triple and a sacrifice fly as Chicago regained first place in the East Division. Bill Bonham, 5-4, got the win and former Cub Burt Hooton, 35, took the loss.

Joe Morgan clubbed a three-run homer and Johnny Bench added a two-run double to power Cincinnati to its ninth victory in the last 10 games. Jack Billingham, 5-3, stopped St. Louis on five hits. The victory pulled the Reds within a half-game of first-place Los Angeles in the West.

Lolich Gets New 'Profile'

Win Record, Strikeout Mark Overshadowing Pot Belly

DETROIT (AP) — Maybe now when a profile of Mickey Lolich is penned it won't dwell on Mickey Lolich's profile.

Until Sunday, Lolich believes, his pot belly got more publicity than his pitching prowess.

"Maybe instead of calling me a fat left-hander they'll say I hold the strikeout record for left-handers and they'll get off that other bit," the Detroit Tiger star southpaw said.

He had just pitched Detroit to a 5-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox in the first game of a doubleheader before a Free Ball Day crowd of 26,749. Detroit lost the second game 3-2 behind a fantastic relief job from ace Rich Gossage.

The split left the Tigers third in the American League East, four games behind leader Boston heading into an eight-game road trip starting Tuesday night at California.

Lolich's triumph was the 201st of his 13-year career, putting him one ahead of Hal Newhouser as the Tigers' winniest left-handed pitcher.

He struck out three batters to give him 2,582 for his career, one ahead of Bob Feller for sixth on the all-time list. Lolich needs two more to take over fifth ahead of Warren Spahn and become the leading lefthanded strikeout ace in major league baseball history.

"I get tired of reading about it," Lolich said of his protruding stomach.

But, he added, "that's the only thing derogatory they've said about me, so I guess I have nothing to complain about."

Detroit led 2-1 when Lolich got his third strikeout, fanning Bill Stein with a man on third base for the second out of the seventh inning. Although he was just two away from Spahn's mark, he said he didn't even concern himself with it.

Late in the game, "I couldn't have broken a pane of glass," he said. "I wasn't trying to strike anyone out then."

He put his two milestones on his list of four memorable accomplishments. His three World Series triumphs tops the list and his 25-victory season in 1971 was another.

Lolich said that season marked the turning point of his career.

"My whole style of pitching changed," he related. "I used to throw a fastball, sinker, curve ... Then all of a sudden I was fooling around in spring training with a slider. I used it in 1971 and became a pitcher. I was in control from then on."

Last year Lolich, now 34, was the losingest AL pitcher with his 16-21 record. His earned-run average was 4.15. Few persons knew it then, but he played with a bum knee the last month of the season and it affected his pitching.

"I started the (1975) season saying it could possibly be my last," Lolich said. "... I didn't want to embarrass myself."

He's got a 6-3 record now, citing Manager Ralph Houk's five-man rotation as a reason for the success.

"Right now I'm all in favor of it," Lolich said. "It's made a difference with me. My arm just isn't as youthful as it used to be. The extra rest is helping me tremendously."

He said he expects to return next season if he has a good percentage.

"Maybe when I get 200 innings of work my arm will go dead," Lolich said.

Knuckleballer Wilbur Wood lost his ninth game in 11 decisions in the opener, the Tigers finally getting to him for two runs in the sixth, then one in the seventh and two in the eighth.

Stein, originally from Battle Creek, Mich., gave the White Sox a 1-0 lead with a homer in the third.

Ron LeFlore started a two-out rally for the Tigers in the sixth with a single. He stole second, took third on a wild pitch, then Gary Sutherland sent him home with a bloop triple. Dan Meyer then singled.

Tom Verzyer singled in the seventh-inning run after walks to slump-ridden Nate Colbert and Bill Freehan.

Singles by LeFlore, Sutherland, Willie Horton, Leon Roberts and Freehan produced Detroit's run in the eighth.

The Tigers jumped to a 2-0 lead in the second game off Claude Osteen with a pair of runs in the second on a homer by Roberts and an RBI single by Terry Humphrey.

Chicago got them back off Lerrin LaGrew in the fourth on a homer by Carlos May and Stein's ground out after a walk, to Ken Henderson and double by Deron Johnson.

A bases-loaded walk to Johnson forced in the winning run in the fifth off loser Tom Walker, 1-2.

Gossage, who entered the game with an 0.79 ERA in 45 innings, gave up one hit in 4 1-3 innings of relief to raise his record to 3-2.

Chicago Manager Chuck Tanner was ejected from the game by first base umpire Jim Evans for protesting a strike call.

Detroit took two of three in the series against the White Sox. Horton hit a two-run homer and Vern Riffe pitched a two-hitter to raise his record to 5-1 in the Tigers' 2-0 triumph Saturday.

BEARING DOWN: Detroit Tigers' southpaw Mickey Lolich follows through on pitch against Chicago White Sox during first game of Sunday's doubleheader. Lolich posted his 201st career victory and moved past Bob Feller on baseball's all-time list of strikeout leaders. (AP Wirephoto)

Larrieu Sets New Mile Mark

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) —

Francie Larrieu returned home from a successful track tour of China Friday and immediately set a new American record for the women's mile Saturday night at the U.S. Track and Field Federation Championships here.

"I got back from the China trip Friday morning and then went to sleep — for 15 hours straight — that's the longest I've ever slept," she said after posting a 4:31.69 mile. "I would have been happy with 4:36 but the pace was good and I felt good on the first lap so I figured I should give it a go."

The result was a federation record and an American mark for the only woman competing in the meet for the Pacific Coast Club, which won the men's team competition with 91 points followed by Gulf Coast Track Club, the Chicago Track Club and Kansas. Miss Larrieu's mile run broke her own American mark of 4:33.1 set last year.

The other outstanding performance of the USTFF meet came from Rick Wohluter, world record holder in the half mile and 1,000 meters, who ran a hot 3:53.3 mile to break his own federation mark of 3:55.1 from last year.

The first three laps of the mile run brought the crowd of 5,500 to its feet in anticipation of a new world record. The pace went 59.4 in the first lap, 1:55 in the second and 2:54.8 in the third. Wohluter faded in the fourth lap and couldn't muster the 54.1 quarter he needed to break the world mark set only a few weeks ago by Filbert Bayi at 3:51.0.

"I'm sorry I didn't set a world record," the exhausted Chicago Track Club runner said after the race. "I gave it a try and I'm satisfied with that. I ran as hard as I could."

The performances by Wohluter and Miss Larrieu were among 18 records in men's and women's competition established during the two-day meet at Wichita State University.

Pacific Coast Club won the men's team title for the fifth year in a row with performances that included meet records in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles by world record holder Jim Bolding and in the three-mile run by John Halberstadt.

Fire Players Signed By Wind

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Wind of the World Football League Friday signed six players, including three who played with the WFL's defunct Chicago Fire.

Picked up from the Fire, which folded before the 1974 season ended, were center Guy Murdoch, defensive end Mick Heinrich and tight end Don Burchfield. Signed as free agents were quarterbacks Ray Nystrom of Plattsville, Wis., State and Pete Beatrice of Brown, and safety Richard Marx of Northern Illinois. The Wind now has 47 players under contract.

Mustangs District Champs

Again With Comeback Wins

Bangor Title Victim; Lakers Lose Opener

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer
DECATUR — River Valley used two comeback victories to earn its second straight district baseball championship here Saturday afternoon.

The Mustangs pushed across three runs in the bottom of the tenth inning to nudge Decatur 5-4 in their opener and then rallied for five runs in the fifth frame in the title contest to knock off Bangor 7-4 for the Class C trophy.

In a real surprise, underdog Bangor eliminated Lake Michigan Catholic 5-3 in the morning game. The Lakers had captured three consecutive district titles, two straight regional crowns and finished runnerup in the Class C state finals last June.

Because of North the Mustangs will head east this Saturday. Dave North, batting .310 going into Saturday's games, smacked six hits and batted in five runs for the day, including the tying runs in the tenth inning of the opener. Valley will now advance to the Class C regional Saturday at Kalamazoo Hackett.

The Mustangs also got a solid effort from No. 2 starter Dan Hinman in the title clash. Hinman, cousin of River Valley coach Jerry Hinman, twirled a two-hitter, allowed only two earned runs and fanned seven. Hinman, neglected most of the season behind No. 1 hurler Steve Rennhack, is now 8-2 for the season with an 1.75 ERA.

"He's been pitching good all year for us," noted Hinman of Hinman. "He's a sure No. 2 pitcher. He really came through when we needed him....we didn't have Rennhack available."

Rennhack (10-3) went the ten innings in the first game for the mound win. Under tourney rules, a pitcher is limited to 10 frames of hurling for the day.

"I wasn't that pleased with the way we played... these weren't two of our better games," added the Mustang coach, who keeps busy on weekends playing on the Plangger's Furniture softball team. "We'll have to play better to win any more games at Hackett. But we did what we had to do."

Valley, trailing 2-0 after two, picked up one run in the third and then opened up in the fifth to take the lead for good. The Mustangs sent 10 batters up and slapped five of their eight hits.

Greg Johnson, Dennis Busse, North and Cary Harrington all lifted RBI singles while Rennhack added a run on a sacrifice fly in the cloudburst. Harrington, who went 4-for-8 for the day, contributed a run-producing single in the seventh.

Bangor struck first with two in the second on a bases-loaded single by losing hurler Gary Garrett following three straight walks. The Vikings got two more in the fifth on Valley errors by shortstop Rennhack. The only other hit off Hinman was a single by Jerry Borden in the fourth.

Garrett (2-3) was relieved by Doug Watkins in the fifth but was charged with all seven Valley runs.

Decatur broke a 2-2 deadlock with two runs in the top of the tenth on some sloppy Valley fielding. But the Mustangs bettered that when their turn came. North pounded his two-run single with the bases loaded to tie the game up again. Harrington then ended the duel with the winning hit up the middle.

North led the eight-hit Mustang offense with three singles, a double and four RBI's. Jeff Jackson and Harrington both had two singles. Rennhack ended with eight whiffs while allowing seven hits.

Kim Thomas went the route in taking the loss. Al McAdams and Kurt Wiese both belted two singles for the Raiders while Jim Overley drove a double and single.

Kamradt Hurls Bridgman To First District Crown

LAWRENCE — Dan Kamradt turned in some sparkling hurling to help carry Bridgman to the Class D district baseball title here Saturday.

Kamradt picked up a save with some neat relief pitching in the Bees' 3-2 opening win over Gobles and then tossed a three-hitter as Bridgman bumped Michigan Lutheran 4-2 in the championship encounter.

Lutheran won its first game 6-2 over Galien.

Bridgman earned its first district baseball trophy ever with the double wins while also breaking Lawrence's three-year hold on the district crown. Lawrence was eliminated earlier at the pre-district level. Kamradt carved seven strikeouts while going the distance in the title clash. Steve Hasse, who allowed five hits, was the loser.

The Bees scored one in the second on a single by Dale Burwell and a triple by Walt Nelson and one in the third on a RBI single by Jeff Runser. Bridgman added two in the fourth on a RBI single by Kamradt and a Lutheran error. Lutheran tallied two in the sixth on a double by Bruce Morris and a single by Ron Briney.

Kamradt, now 6-1, took over for Runser with two Gobles runners on base and no outs in the last of the seventh with the Bees winning 3-2. He retired the side in order in preserving the win for Runser, who gave up six hits. Dan Hopwood absorbed the loss.

Burwell's two-bagger in the fifth drove in what proved the deciding run. Kevin Page had a double for Gobles.

Lutheran belted 10 hits in its win over Galien. Hasse rifled three singles, Briney added a triple and single and brothers Brent and Bruce Morris both swatted two hits with Brent getting three RBI's. The Titans scored three in the fifth to take the lead for good. Fred Krieger (4-1) posted the hill win with a six-hitter while Dale Luther took the setback.

Fridgman, now 10-9, advances to the North Adams regional on Saturday.

The Lakers outlived the Vikings 10-6 but couldn't come up with the clutch blows, leaving 12 runners stranded. Borden lashed out three hits and had two RBI's for Bangor while John Dentzman added a sacrifice fly. Mark Lull went the distance for the mound win, fanning eight.

Bob Mattner took the loss. He pitched the first four innings and gave up all the Viking runs. Gary Meek came in in the fifth.

George Welch, who ended as the top Laker hitter at .342, blasted two doubles and a single for Lake Michigan. Meek, a double and single, Gary Bartalone two singles and Mattner a RBI single.

River Valley, which lost in the regional finals last spring, will carry a 21-5 record into the regional. The Lakers bow out at 19-6, Bangor at 11-9 and Decatur at 15-4.

The Mustangs went into Saturday's games with a team batting average of .290 with North, Harrington, Jackson, Rennhack and Dennis Busse all hitting above .300.

HEADING HOME: Dave North (18) of River Valley strides toward home plate as Bangor catcher Keith Wiles received throw too late to make tag during fifth inning of Class C district championship game Saturday at Decatur. Bucks Lose 'B' Title Tilt NILES — Vicksburg had the championship edge in a tightly-played Class B district baseball tournament here at Thomas Stadium Saturday.

Vicksburg bumped Buchanan 2-1 in the title tilt while getting just one hit after nipping Sturgis 4-3 in the opening round. The Bucks reached the final by slipping past Paw Paw 7-6 in extra innings.

Buchanan sophomore righthander Kevin Vanderbush was the victim of the one-hit setback to Vicksburg while fanning seven and walking two.

The Bucks, who had just three hits off Harrison, the winning pitcher, scored in the bottom of the fourth after Vicksburg had taken a 2-0 lead in the top of the stanza.

Buchanan's Bryan Virgil reached on an error and scored on Rob Heiney's two-out RBI single.

Vanderbush had a double and a single for the other Buck safeties while finishing the day with five for eight performance, an effort which raised considerably his team-leading .282 average going into the district.

Vicksburg put together its winning runs in the bottom of the fourth on an error, a walk, a sacrifice, a run-scoring wild pitch and a run-scoring safety squeeze bunt by Grabka, who finished with the winners' lone safety.

Virgil was the Buchanan defensive standout of the game from his centerfield position with over the shoulder and shoestring catches.

The Bucks, which bowed out at 24-11, won their opening game in the ninth inning over Paw Paw on a single by Vanderbush, a double by Virgil and a run-scoring wild pitch.

Walt Vanderbush, Kevin's older brother, was the winning pitcher in that one. He started, got relief from Hugh Heiermann in the sixth and seventh, and returned to work the final two frames. Rod Alston was the Paw Paw loser in relief of starter Joe Gladysz.

Buchanan finished with eight hits, including three singles by Kevin Vanderbush and doubles by Virgil and John Donley.

Paw Paw, now 13-7, had just two hits — a pair of singles by Mike Price — but Buchanan helped the Redskins out by yielding 10 walks and a pair of errors.

Walt Vanderbush, who carried a 0.70 ERA into the game, hiked his record to 9-2 with the opening game victory. Kevin wound up at 7-4 on the mound.

Sturgis was ousted from the district with a 15-6 record, while Vicksburg will carry a 13-8 mark into this Saturday's Marshall Class B regional.

Carr Recuperating

CLEVELAND (AP) — Doctors say Austin Carr of the Cleveland Cavaliers is expected to recuperate from his latest knee surgery in time to report for the National Basketball Association club's training camp in mid-September.

Carr underwent surgery Thursday to remove cartilage. The knee was operated on last Dec. 30, but doctors say Carr reinjured it last season.

All-Weather 78

Goodyear's All-Weather 78 is built with polyester cord that's first tempered in an exclusive Goodyear process to set the cord at optimum strength and resilience. The wide 78-series tread is "reverse molded," a technique borrowed from race tire production. In reverse molding, the contour of the tread surface is slightly concave as it comes from the mold — so that when the tire is inflated, the tread makes full, flat contact with the road. And the rib-type tread design is well-grooved, with plenty of traction edges to provide decisive grip. In every detail, our All-Weather 78 gives you honest quality, at a price that's in step with the time.

Top Area Efforts Also-Rans In State Track Lancers' Edwards Only Champion

Southwestern Michigan athletes have come home almost empty-handed from statewide track competition this year.

Even some of the finest performances in this area's history were virtually lost in the shuffle during state championship meets at eight sites last Saturday.

Only Lakeshore sprinter Rhonda Edwards was able to savor the sweet taste of victory during a day that produced 14 new state records for boys and a flock of outstanding efforts by girls in their first four-class finals.

In every other case, this area's best was not quite good enough...although it often was very good, indeed.

Paw Paw's Mike Thompson raced through the half mile in 1:55.0 — the second fastest ever recorded by a southwestern Michigan runner — but still finished second to the record 1:53.6 of Fenton's Mike Helms in the Class B finals at East Lansing.

Bridgman's Mike Schaller completely obliterated his own Class D high jump record of 6-3 3/4 with a leap of 6-7, but also had to settle for second place behind Mike Winsor of Fulton-Middleton, whose winning jump of 6-9 1/4 is the best ever posted in state competition in any class.

Fennville's LuAnn Garlock lowered her own area two-mile record to 12:36.3 — more than 41 seconds faster than any southwestern Michigan girl ever has covered that distance — but finished sixth in the Class C finals at Kalamazoo....53.5 seconds behind winner Cynthia Sprague of Lansing Catholic Central.

By the time the day was over, four all-time area girls' records had been established and two boys had earned places atop the 1975 honor roll, yet none of their performances were rewarded with victory.

The only area athletes who were a factor in the team competition in any class were coach Sharon Scher's Lakeshore girls, who placed fourth in the Class B meet with 28 1/2 points.

Edwards picked up eight of the points by winning the 100-yard dash in 11.4 seconds and also was a member of the Lancers' 880 relay team that set an area record of 1:46.2 while finishing second to Holt by two-tenths of a second.

Lakeshore also placed fifth in the mile relay, ninth in the 440 relay and got a fifth from Peggy Root in the quarter mile.

Pam Mitchell of Dowagiac set an area record of 5-5 1/2 in the Class B high jump but placed second behind Beth Brunn of Utica, whose winning leap of 5-7 1/4 is the best ever recorded in Michigan girls' competition.

The Class B meet also produced an outstanding mile run by May Ann Opalewski of Saginaw MacArthur, whose winning time of 5:04.5 is only 2.3 seconds off the national record.

The other area girls' record was posted by Cyndi Sherburn of Berrien Springs, who was clocked in 2:27.2 while placing fifth in the 880 during the Class C meet.

Benton Harbor sophomore Carmella Hull failed to match her best times of the season, but still finished second in the 100 and third in the 220 during the Class A girls meet at Livonia.

Area representatives were even less successful in the four boys' championship meets.

Aside from Thompson, Schaller and Lakeshore two-miler Mike Mead, no area runners or leapers were able to match their previous honor roll efforts.

Mead took over first place on the area honor roll with a time of 9:35.4 in the Class B meet, but Brandywine's Dennis Wilson was a disappointing second in the high jump at 6-4 — four inches below the all-time area record he shares with Lewis Garner of Niles.

The only area boys' team to finish in the top 10 was Bridgman, which placed 10th in a record-shattering Class D meet at Carn.

Among eight records wiped out in the meet were two held by former area runners — the low hurdles mark of 20.2 set in 1966 by Clarence Baber of Covent and the two-mile standard of 9:38.0 set in 1973 by Greg Sanderson of Lawton.

One of the state's oldest records was soundly shattered in a Class A mile duel between Steve Elliott of Pontiac Central and Jeff Randolph of Midland.

Elliott won in 4:08.2 and Randolph was second in 4:09.2, both well under the record of 4:13.2 set by Lou Scott of Detroit Eastern in 1961.

Ypsilanti Netters 'Winless' Champs

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — Ypsilanti won its first Class A state high school tennis title Saturday without an individual champion.

Ypsilanti totaled seven points in the two-day Michigan finals to finish one ahead of Midland and Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook, which shared second place.

Kalamazoo Central and Kalamazoo Loy Norrix tied for fourth with five points each.

Jeff Etterbeck of Cranbrook defeated Kevin Cook of Midland 6-4, 6-1, in a replay of the 1974 Class A singles final.

Sherry Acker and Dave Ballingall of Kalamazoo Central won the doubles with a 6-4, 4-6, 6-3 victory over Steve Carter and John Freatman of Ypsilanti.

East Grand Rapids edged Detroit Austin 13-12 for the Class B championship. Fremont and Grosse Ile shared third with four points each.

Bob Buskirk and Ralph Booner of East Grand Rapids defeated Ken Rychowski and Frank Willard of Detroit Austin, 5-7, 6-3, 6-2, and the doubles final determined the team champ.

Ken Thomas of Austin swept Tim Jacobson of East Grand Rapids, 6-4, 6-0, in the final round of Class B singles.

Grosse Pointe University Liggett and Kalamazoo Hackett tied for the Class C-D team title with seven points each. Birmingham Detroit Country Day was third with six points.

Ihor Debryn of Liggett defeated Dave Chandler of Hackett, 4-6, 6-1, 6-1 in the C-D singles final.

John Neville and Jeff Collins of Country Day won over Jim Manning and Mark McDonnell of Liggett, 6-4, 6-4 in the doubles final.

WMU's Doolittle Heads Gary Fund

KALAMAZOO — Former Western Michigan University football coach Bill Doolittle has been named director of the M.J. "Mike" Gary Athletic Fund.

Doolittle, who guided the Broncos to a 38-22 record in 11 seasons from 1964 through last November, is the first athletic department member to head the Gary Fund. He will continue to have teaching duties in the physical education department.

BH Ruins 'Perfect' Ending Tigers, Niles Stymied In District Play

By JOHN VANDEN HEEDJE
Staff Sports Writer

PORTAGE — Benton Harbor ruined a "perfect" ending to its season in the Class A baseball district tournament here Saturday afternoon.

The spoiler was a dropped third strike on what should have been the last pitch of the game which destroyed a rare perfect game bid by Battle Creek Central pitcher John Younglove.

And Younglove didn't even

Younglove did get his shutout — his fifth of the season — by ousting Benton Harbor from the tournament with a 2-0 decision.

Berrien county's other Class A tourney representative — Niles — didn't fare any better. The Vikings were the victim of a no-hitter by Battle Creek

Lakeview went on to win a second straight district title by downing Battle Creek Central for the third time in four meetings this season 13-5 in the championship clash.

Central's Younglove, a senior righthander who raised his record to 5-3 while lowering his ERA to 0.57, put down the first 20 Benton Harbor batters and had a third strike past the 21st — Robert Plate — but the ball bounced off the catcher's glove. Younglove finished with 12 strikeouts.

Central's first batter of the game, Mark Nichols, tripled and scored on a ground out.

Hermann retired 10 batters in a row before Central got its next hit, a bunt single by Tom Popovich in the fourth. He stole second and scored on Battle Creek's other hit, Tom Burbish's RBI blow.

The dropped third strike was the only error in the well-played game which took just over an hour to play. Benton Harbor shortstop Rick Haney and centerfielder Pate made good plays while handling seven and five chances, respectively, including four in a row by Pate at one point.

"That's a tough way to lose...we took a few too many strikes," commented Tiger coach Paul Wilhite. Benton Harbor wrapped up its season at 7-18.

Lakeview got just four hits off starting and reliever Arnie White, but the Vikings helped the Lakeview cause by contributing 10 walks and five errors.

Barry Parker was a perfect three-for-three for the winners while raising his average to .338. Pinch hitter Greg Schreiner got the other hit, a two-run single.

Niles scored its only run in the fourth on blow to leftfield by Rick Yost which the official scorer called an error. The two-base, run-scoring blow bounced off the leftfielder's glove as he reached up while going back toward the fence.

Lakeview will now carry a 19-9 record into the Lansing Class A regional tournament this Saturday. Battle Creek Central, which ousted St. Joseph 9-0 a week ago in pre-district play on Younglove's four-hitter, closes out at 15-14.

Football Coach Teaching Unique Class For Women

MARYSVILLE, Mich. (AP) — Lois Levandowski has watched football for more than 20 years. Her husband plays in a recreational league and her nephews and sons in high school.

Yet, until recently, she didn't know the fine points of the game. She does now, thanks to a unique "Football for Women" class being taught by Marysville High School football coach Walt Braun.

Eighteen women — most of them with sons on the high school team — attend the once-a-week class, conducted under the auspices of St. Clair County Community College.

"My husband sent me," explained Mrs. Levandowski. "I'm learning things, lots of things. Walt's doing a nice job."

Another member of the class, Margaret Miller, was a basketball player at the all-girls high school she attended. She has sons on all three Marysville High School teams — freshman, junior varsity and varsity. She's attending the course almost in self-defense.

"I have four boys and a husband," she smiled. "With the boys on all the different teams, you might just as well join them."

The Miller boys like the idea.

"They're glad that I'm coming so I can discuss football intelligently with them," their mother said proudly.

One thing Braun stresses to the mothers as spectators is not to watch the football, but to concentrate on a player or two; especially an interior lineman.

"Don't just watch the football," he emphasizes. "You'll see more of the game."

It's a habit Joyce Dillon will have to break. She has four sons, two of whom are still in high school.

Acknowledging that she really doesn't know too much about the game, Mrs. Dillon said: "I used to watch the football... unless one of my boys was playing. But I didn't know what he was doing."

It's the first time Braun has ever taught football to nonplayers.

He says he started the class after one of the mothers asked him last fall to do something to help those who didn't understand the game.

"They had assumed, since I had coached football for so long, that I'd be talking way above their heads," Braun commented.

Many of the women take notes diligently.

Next fall, they may not be jumping up from the dinner table and diagramming their sons' missed blocks on a kitchen blackboard, but they'll probably have seen them and understand their significance.

Fred Chabot Stars In Plangger's Wins

INDIANAPOLIS — Fred Chabot went six-for-nine with four doubles and four RBIs as Plangger's of Benton Harbor won two of three fast pitch softball games here Sunday.

Chabot had an RBI double and a single as Plangger's topped Renner's Express of Indianapolis 5-1 in the opener. Vic Gillette added two singles and three RBIs and Doug Wymer had two singles while Rick Plangger was the winning pitcher on a three-hitter.

Rich Plangger fired a one-hitter as Plangger's blanked Icy Hot of Indianapolis 6-0 in the second game. Plangger's came up with 10 hits, including a three-run double and a single by Chabot and two singles by Jack Mucia.

Rick Plangger came back to throw a two-hitter in the third game, but he dropped a 2-0 decision to Wilsey of Indianapolis. Plangger's had five hits including two doubles by Chabot and two singles by Ron Mandarino.

Plangger's, now 8-8 on the season, returns home Wednesday night for Michiana League action against Mishawaka Cobra.

St. Joseph LITTLE LEAGUE

Roger Hutchins was the winning pitcher as the Yankees clubbed the Cubs 9-3. Blueske had a pair of singles for the Yankees and Rhodes a double for the Cubs.

Fennville Shut Out In Class C Finale

HAMILTON — Fennville couldn't muster much offense and lost to Vermontville Maple Valley 3-0 here Saturday in the title game of the Hamilton Class C district baseball tournament.

The Blackhawks had advanced to the finals with an opening 3-2 win over Wyoming Lee. Maple Valley also beat Hamilton 7-1.

Mike Furlong limited the Hawks to two hits and fanned eight in the championship clash. Jim Scudder as the loser, Maple Valley scored all three runs in

Jeff Thompson and Noel DeLaLuz collected the only Fennville hits, both singles.

Rick Bushee fired a two-hitter in the 3-2 win over Lee. He fanned five. Bill Bushee chased in the winning run with a bases-loaded single in the bottom of the seventh.

Irwin Coasts To Victory At Atlanta

ATLANTA (AP) — "All he had to do was coast around," said Charles Coody. "Nobody took a run at him."

Hale Irwin, the 1974 U.S. Open champion, accomplished his goal Sunday and coasted to an easy four-shot victory in the $225,000 Atlanta Golf Classic.

"I went out with the distinct impression I had to shoot a 69 today," said Irwin. "That would make someone have to shoot a 65 to beat me."

The former University of Colorado golf and football star did even better — a four-under-par 68 — and no one even approached a 65.

Asked why no one made a run at him, Irwin, who will be 30 Tuesday, replied, "It's Sunday. It's a choking day."

Coody, winless since capturing the Masters in 1971, was the only player to get within two shots of the lead. That came on the first hole, which he parred and Irwin bogeyed.

But Coody's hopes of a run faded when he missed short birdie putts on the seventh and eighth greens and then took a bogey on the ninth. He had to settle for third place money at 276, after a closing 70, while young Tom Watson finished second at 68-275.

Irwin's 17-under-par 271 over the hills and valleys of the 6,883-yard Atlanta County Club course was the lowest in nine tour events on this picturesque.

Irwin hit two of the 25,000 spectators during the round — a man with his tee shot on the third hole and a woman watching from the edge of the fairway on 11.

The victory, Irwin's fourth in an eight-year career but his first since last year's Open, was worth $45,000.

There was a three-way tie for fourth place between Nicklaus, who had won the two previous tour events here, Johnny Miller and Miller Barber. They stood at 277 as Nicklaus and Barber closed with 69s and Miller with a 70.

It was two shots further back to long-hitting Jim Dent, 72, and Jim Colbert, who had the lowest round of the day at 67, also matched by Jerry McGee and Great Britain's Peter Oosterhuis.

Hall Of Famer Whitworth Earns Third LPGA Crown

BALTIMORE (AP) — It was a week to remember for Kathy Whitworth — or will be, when she finally has time to reflect and realizes what happened.

Six days after being inducted into the Ladies Professional Golfers Association Hall of Fame, the veteran campaigner came from behind to win her third prestigious LPGA Championship.

"It's hard to believe I'm in the Hall of Fame," Miss Whitworth said after a birdie putt on the 17th green gave her a one-stroke victory Sunday over Sandra Haynie in the 72-hole tournament.

"It really hasn't soaked in yet," she added. "It may be two or three weeks before it really comes to me. I'm still numb."

Understandably, Miss Whitworth's 73rd tournament title didn't shake her up quite as much.

"Life changes," she said. "This wasn't like my first win, or the second, or the third. Or, even like the first LPGA championship."

With a four-under-par 288 over the municipally-owned Pine Ridge course, the all-time LPGA money winner earned $8,000 and upped her career total to $554,781.

Miss Haynie, who also was seeking her third LPGA title, opened the final round in a tie with Miss Whitworth after making up four strokes on the leader on Saturday. The $5,650 she got for finishing at 289 ran her career total to $415,193.

Young JoAnn Washam ran off four straight birdies through the 17th hole to finish third at 290 after shooting 71 on Sunday, followed by Donna Caponi Young at 291 and Carol Mann at 292.

Sandra Palmer, the leading money winner this year, ran her 1975 earnings to $47,582 after picking up $1,875 for a 293 that tied her with Sandra Spuzich and Jocelyn Bourassa.

Benton Harbor fell to Kalamazoo Central in the first game of the Class A district at Plangger's Field, 9-8. Lake Michigan Catholic won its first game over River Valley, 12-8, but lost the championship to highly-regarded Edwardsburg, 10-6, in the Class C games played at Berrien Springs.

In the Class B district at Buchanan, Lakeshore was nipped by South Haven in the opening game, 2-1, and Brandywine trounced Buchanan in the second game, 10-0, in six innings. The finale saw Brandywine edge South Haven, 12-11.

Bridgman had a 7-4 lead at the end of three innings before it exploded for five runs in the fourth. Sue Davis carried the hot bat for the Bees as she went four for five at the plate, including a double. She also doubled off two Lawrence runners from her centerfield spot.

The Bees will take a 2-5 record into the Class D regional tournament Saturday at Martin.

Benton Harbor had to play catch-up in the first part of its contest but scored five runs in the fifth inning on six hits and three Central errors to take a 7-6 lead.

A team that has won only one game all season isn't usually regarded as a championship threat.

But Bridgman capitalized on 10 Lawrence errors to win the Class D girls' district softball title with its second victory of the year — a 15-9 decision — on its home field Saturday afternoon.

Portage Central's Karen Searles pitched a one-hitter as the Mustangs beat Portage Northern in the second game, 4-1. Portage Central came back to win the district crown over Kalamazoo Central, 19-11.

The Lancer's Patty Ilge and South Haven's Laurie Hill hooked into a real pitchers duel at Buchanan. Lakeshore finally broke through with a run in the fourth for its only marker. South Haven tied the contest in the sixth and won it in the seventh on Cathy Webster's RBI single.

Buchanan didn't help itself any in its ballgame with Brandywine as the Bucks walked 17 Bobcats, including eight in the sixth inning when Brandywine scored five runs. Martha Bailey scattered four hits and got the win; Kim Gaul was tagged with the loss.

In the title game, Brandywine had to hold off the Rams in the seventh as they scored four times but came up one short. The Bobcats were led by Diana Burrow's four singles and Diana Rose's three singles. Connie Riley had four hits for South Haven.

Lake Michigan Catholic found itself down by two runs before the Lakers shelled River Valley in the first game. Ann Donahue led hitting attack in the six-run, third inning, by knocking in two runs with two singles. She ended up going four-for-four with three RBIs to her credit.

Sue Gearhart twirled a one-hitter at Eau Claire in the second game. Terri Bailey was the only Fighting Beaver to get a hit and that was a single in the second inning. Pattie Doncaster drove in three runs for the Edies in the game.

In the championship game, Edwardsburg relied on the hitting of Patty Reed, Sue Catto and Lynn Stowe to build up a 7-1 lead through four innings. The Lakers capitalized on six walks in the bottom of the fifth to score four runs but that's as close as Catholic could get as the Edies scored three times in seventh to put the game out of reach.

In a wild affair played at Blomington, Kalamazoo Christian won the Class C district over Marcellus by the amazing score of 42-7. The Comets rolled up 33 hits while allowing the Wildcats just seven hits.

All district winners advanced to the regionals to be held next Saturday.

When it comes to car insurance value, it pays to compare State Farm.

THE STATE FARM AUTO INSURANCE VALUE PACKAGE

RATES: Low rates are one of the major reasons State Farm got to be the world's largest car insurer. Our agents save money for thousands of Michigan drivers every year. You'll find your rates with State Farm are competitive with those of most other major car insurance companies. But cost alone doesn't mean value.

COVERAGES: In addition to the mandatory coverages required by Michigan No-Fault Law, State Farm offers a wide range of optional coverages. Many at a rate advantage. With these optional coverages, your State Farm agent can tailor your car insurance to your particular needs, and probably save you some extra money, too.

CLAIMS: Because State Farm is number one, our claim service is second to none. Because State Farm is America's largest, we have a large number of experienced, full-time claim personnel throughout the U.S. We can offer the convenience of large drive-in claim centers in major metropolitan areas. In many cases, your State Farm agent can settle everything right in his office; write a check and get you on your way. However your claim is handled with State Farm, you can be sure it will be done promptly and fairly.

AVAILABILITY: With over 600 agents in Michigan and almost 12,000 across the nation, State Farm is there. Just about anywhere you should run into trouble, there's a State Farm agent nearby who's dedicated to giving you the same kind of good-neighbor service you get from your hometown State Farm agent. If you're traveling through a "non-no-fault" state, he can give you valuable guidance. If you move permanently, you don't have to start shopping for car insurance all over again. The State Farm agent in your new community can simply pick up where your previous agent left off.

AGENT: Rates are what you pay. Service is what you're really buying. And the personal service you can expect from a State Farm agent is exceptional. He's nearby and he's available whenever you need help. Like a good neighbor, State Farm is there more than an advertising slogan. It's a promise.

When you're looking for car insurance, compare rates, coverages, claim service and the availability and personal service the agent offers. Compare the total State Farm Value Package with what any other company can provide.

You'll find out it adds up to the best all-around buy in Michigan.

Right Move By Redman Beats Mario At Pocono

LONG POND, Pa. (AP) — "It was the right decision," said Brian Redman.

And who could argue with the man who edged out Mario Andretti to win the 98-mile main event in Sunday's Formula 5000 race at Pocono International Raceway?

Redman was talking about his decision to scratch his new Chevrolet powered Lola T-400 for a similar T-322 that he used to win the championship last year.

"You hate to give away an up-front starting position but it was obvious that the new car was not competitive," said Redman, who came from last place in the qualifying heat and then overtook Andretti to finish almost a mile ahead.

In the time trials before the May 4 rainout of Sunday's season opener, Redman had been clocked as the fourth-fastest qualifier.

"The officials said we were fourth fastest, but according to our watches, we were sixth," Redman said. "There was no way we would be able to keep up with Andretti with the new car."

Redman, a 38-year-old Britisher who narrowly defeated Andretti for the championship of the Sports Club of America U.S. Auto Club series last year, averaged 118.889 miles an hour in Sunday's race.

He finished 23 seconds ahead of Andretti's teammate, Al Unser, who also drove a Lola-Chevrolet.

Jackie Oliver, another Englishman, was third in a Shadow. Fourth place Eppie Wietzes, in a Lola-Chevrolet, was the only other driver to complete 35 laps on the twisting 2.8-mile road course.

Andretti, the 1969 Indy 500 winner who lives in Nazareth, Pa., led the first 19 laps. In the 20th, smoke began pouring from the back of his white and red car. He slowed considerably and dropped out on the 25th lap.

"I can't cry too much 'cause I won an awful lot of races with good luck," Andretti said. "You know, I had five years when everything broke right."

"But the last five years have sure as hell balanced it off. I don't like to complain ... but I've seen enough smoke to last me a lifetime."

Tiger Tracks

DETROIT (AP) — Aurelio Rodriguez has made an even dozen errors this season but the Detroit Tiger third baseman continues to have his spectacular moments in the field.

He made several sensational plays in Sunday's doubleheader split with Chicago. It may have been his best fielding game of the season.

"He's the best fielding third baseman we've ever had," General Manager Jim Campbell said bluntly afterwards.

In the fourth inning of the 5-1 opening victory Rodriguez made a diving stop of Ken Henderson's grounder and turned it into a doubleplay.

Shortstop Tom Verczer followed with another brilliant play, backhanding Deron Johnson's sure RBI grounder in the hole, slipping on the wet grass, but still throwing a strike to first to get the last out.

Rodriguez' second super play came in the 3-2 loss. He made a great stop of Johnson's grounder and fired to the plate to nail Carlos May trying to score.

"He played fantastic," Manager Ralph Houk said. "And he's been hitting better lately."

"I feel much better now," Rodriguez said. "Today I felt like I could catch anything. Two weeks ago when a ground ball would come to me I would think I might miss it."

Rich Gossage, who pitched one-hit relief against Detroit for 4-13 innings in the second game Sunday, entered the game with an 0.79 earned-run average in 45 innings.

He cites his success this season to guidance at winter ball in Puerto Rico under Ponce Manager Pat Corrales, an ex-major league catcher.

"I worked so much on my breaking ball (before) that I went backwards on my fast ball," Gossage said. "He got me straightened out on that."

He said he threw 95 per cent fastballs against the Tigers.

Parent, Flyers

Awarded Trophy

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Goalie Bernie Parent and his Philadelphia Flyers teammates have been named winners of the 15th annual John Wanamaker Award.

The award went Saturday to the Stanley Cup champions as the team whose athletic accomplishments "have done the most to reflect credit upon Philadelphia." The winners get $1,000 and a trophy.

The Flyers were the first U.S.-based team in 20 years to win the National Hockey League championship for two years in a row. The Flyers and team captain Bobby Clarke won the Wanamaker Award last year.

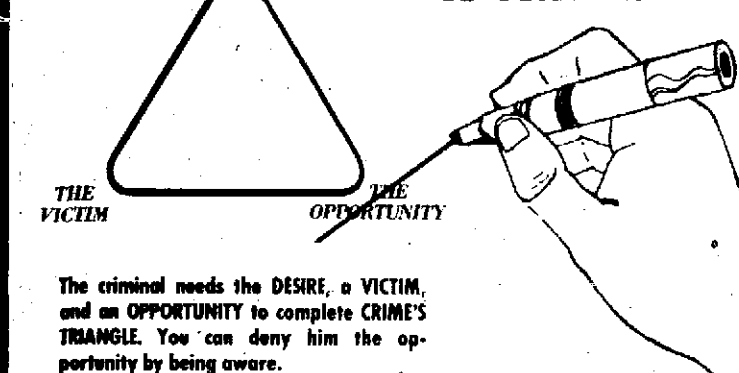

Portage Racer Dies In Crash

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — Henry Wise, 23, of Portage, was killed Sunday in a fiery accident at Kalamazoo Motor Speedway, sheriff's deputies said.

Wise died of burns after his car hit a wall and burst into flames.

Deputies said Wise was trying to pass another car when the left front tire of his auto ran onto the rear tire of the vehicle in front. Authorities said the car then flew up into the wall.

YOU CAN DENY A CRIMINAL THE "OPPORTUNITY" TO COMMIT A CRIME!

The criminal needs the DESIRE, a VICTIM, and an OPPORTUNITY to complete CRIME'S TRIANGLE. You can deny him the opportunity by being aware.

BE AWARE AND ALERT!

THIS WEEK'S CRIME PREVENTION TIPS FOR PERSONAL SAFETY:

1. Carry your purse with the strap firmly over your shoulder and the bag tightly under your arm to deter appearance of an easy mark.
2. If this fails, let purse snatcher have what he wants. Your lipstick, drivers license and a few dollars cash are not worth a trip to the hospital.

RARE GIFT: Pete Wood of Silver Lake holds fulgurite he found in the sand. Scientists say fulgurites (natural glass) are one of nature's rarest phenomena. (AP Wirephoto)

Nature's 'Glass' A Work Of Art

SHELBY, Mich. (AP) — As a flash of lightning brightens up the sky over Silver Lake, Pete Wood hopes it will strike the nearby sand dunes.

Under the right conditions, an electrical storm can create one of the dunes' rarest treasures — fulgurites. Considered to be nature's form of glass, fulgurites are highly prized by collectors.

Wood has been collecting the irregularly shaped, greyish objects since he was 8 or 9 years old. Fulgurites, also called lightning sticks, are formed when lightning, seeking an electrical ground, strikes the sand and fuses it.

A fulgurite is hard to find unless you know what to look for. But Wood knows. He says he has dug up several hundred feet in the past several years, in pursuit of the lightning sticks.

"The best time to look is after an electrical storm," Wood says. "One time I rode my bicycle on the dunes while the sand was still hard from the rain and found a pretty good one. I think I was 13 and I spent a couple days digging part of that one out. I dug down about 10 feet. It was quite a job because I also had to go out at least 15 feet to keep the sand from coming down on top of me."

Wood sold pieces of that particular fulgurite to the Cranbrook Institute in Bloomfield Hills for $30. Wood, who owns Mac Wood's Dune rides, started seriously hunting the lightning sticks in the 1940s.

"I got started when Ray Malm, who had a cottage out here, found one while hunting for Indian arrowheads on the sand dunes. He studied to find what they were and after that started to hunt regularly for them. I would go with him, and we would spend the whole day on the dunes. The best place to look is on a gradual slope, scattered with pine stumps, roots and pieces of wood lying around."

Once the fulgurite is located, the real work begins. The sticks are extremely brittle, break easily and must be dug out carefully. The light digging very close to the fulgurite often is done with a knife.

"I've never found the end of one," Wood says. "They go down pretty much vertical and get smaller the further they go. But they just seem to go on and on." According to Wood, they usually break into pieces under a foot in length. But he says, "I have had some as long as 15 inches."

To remove a large portion of a fulgurite a deep hole must be dug. The pit must be wide as well to prevent sand from falling in around the stick. Oftentimes roots or other debris can be found inside the fulgurite. There is no way to date a fulgurite, Wood says. They may have been buried in the sand for years and then uncovered by the wind.

Michigan's Air Under Standards

WASHINGTON (AP) — Air quality in every corner of Michigan failed to meet federal pollution standards by Saturday night's deadline, the Environmental Protection Agency reported.

EPA administrator Russell Train said actions taken under the 1970 Clean Air Act have reduced the nation's air pollution substantially but that many regions, including all five in Michigan, cannot meet the standards that went into effect at midnight Saturday.

The worst air pollution in the state was reported in the Metropolitan Detroit-Port Huron region. The EPA said the area had inadequately controlled nitrogen oxides, sulfur dioxide, photochemical oxidants (smog), and smoke and dust particles.

Other areas of the state came closer to meeting the federal standards.

In the central Michigan region only particulate pollution and sulfur dioxide were cited as problems.

In the Upper Peninsula, smoke and dust were listed as the prime offenders.

The south central Michigan region and the South Bend-Elkhart Ind.-Benton Harbor region were both cited for sulfur dioxide pollution.

Train told reporters it was recognized long ago that the standards could not be fully met on time.

But in the meantime, he said "these deadlines, coupled with determined effort, have produced major progress. The air in this country is getting measurably cleaner."

Train said he is seeking amendments to give him the flexibility to deal with failures on a case-by-case basis but has asked Congress not to change the deadline itself.

Wins Pinball Championship

MOUNT PROSPECT, Ill. (AP) — A Mount Prospect teenager, 16-year-old Tom Leicht, was named "pinball wizard" of 1975 at the first "U.S. Open Pinball Championship." He won a trophy and $275.

Steven P. Kirk, Pinball Association of America president, commented, "I suppose it sounds fishy for a local boy to win the first national tournament, but Leicht was just the best around. He simply outclassed all the others."

NEW SCHOOL DEDICATED: Woodside elementary school in Hartford was formally dedicated yesterday, with about 200 to 300 persons attending ceremony.

"Open spaces" building was occupied in January after $1 million construction was mostly completed. Building covers about one acre of land, has capacity for housing 600 students and presently has classrooms for about 450 K-5 students. It is located off 60th avenue with entrance through VanLierop woods. It is one part of construction and renovation financed by $3.95 million bond issue approved by Hartford voters in June, 1973.

Cass Crash Kills Man, Hospitalizes 2 Women

PEDRO SOLIS GARCIA
Dies in crash

DOWAGIAC — A 21-year-old Lawton man was killed and two Decatur women were hospitalized today as a result of a two-car crash north of here Saturday.

The man was identified by Cass county sheriff's deputies as Pedro Solis Garcia, 816 Third street, Lawton.

Two passengers riding in the other vehicle, Debra Walters, 19, and Charlotte Weber, 17, both of 200 West St. Mary's street, Decatur, were taken to Lee Memorial hospital in Dowagiac where their condition was listed as satisfactory this morning by hospital officials.

Deputies said the accident occurred about 7:40 p.m. when the Garcia auto, eastbound on Dewey Lake, was struck by a westbound car in the westbound lane at the crest of a hill.

According to deputies, officers were told the Garcia auto was in the westbound lane as it went up the hill but was turned toward the eastbound lane just before it was hit by the other car.

Deputies said the driver was apparently attempting to get and later released.

Garcia's death was the third state traffic fatality over the weekend and the ninth so far this year recorded in Cass county.

The other state traffic fatalities included were Jane Brissette, 19, of Drayton Plains, the driver of a car which ran off Michigan M-50 and hit a tree in Osceola township in Livingston county and Penny Frederick, 17, of Dundee, who was a passenger in a two-car crash in Bedford township in Monroe township.

Both accidents were reported on Saturday.

The man was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. Charles Kudell of Dowagiac, a county deputy medical examiner.

The driver of second car, Edward Lee Parish, 27, and another passenger, David Jordan, 18, both of Decatur, were taken to Lee Memorial hospital

BOARD MEETS IN EAST Bendix Elects 2 Directors

EAST PROVIDENCE, R.I. — Two new directors have been elected to the board of directors of The Bendix corporation.

They are Vivian W. Henderson, president of Clark College, Atlanta, Ga., and William C. Purple, president of the Bendix Aerospace-Electronics group.

Meeting at the headquarters here of the company's subsidiary Fram corporation, the Bendix directors also elected three corporate vice presidents.

They are Douglas P. Crane, president of the Bendix Automotive group, Paul F. Hartz, chairman and president of Fram corporation, and James L. O'Brien, vice president, international licensing, Bendix International.

In other action, the Bendix directors declared regular quarterly dividends of 45 cents a share on the outstanding shares of common stock and 75 cents a share on the series A $3 cumulative convertible preferred stock. Both are payable June 30, to stockholders of record June 10.

The election of two new directors increases the Bendix board membership to 17.

Dr. Henderson, 52, is a prominent educator and economist. Prior to his appointment to the presidency of Clark College in the Atlanta University Center in 1965, he was at Fisk University as an administrator, a professor and chairman of the Department of Economics. In the 1950's he conducted pioneer studies of the black labor market and the potential buying power of the black community.

Dr. Henderson is a member of the Board of Trustees of the Ford Foundation. He also serves as a director of the National Urban Coalition, the National Bureau of Economic Research, Common Cause, the Potomac Institute, Dag Hammarskjöld College, the Martin Luther King, Jr. Center for Social Change and the Teacher's Insurance and Annuity Association of America. He holds a Ph.D. in economics from the University of Iowa.

Purple, 49, came to Bendix in 1967 as a corporate vice president and group manager. He was named president of the Aerospace-Electronics Group in 1973.

Before he joined Bendix, Purple had served as assistant to the president of Fairchild Hiller corporation and as a vice president of Melpar, Inc., a subsidiary of Westinghouse Air Brake company. He is a graduate of Princeton University.

Bendix is a worldwide manufacturer serving the automotive, aerospace-electronics and housing markets. It is headquartered in Southfield, Mich., and has divisions in St. Joseph and nearby South Bend, Ind.)

Buchanan Tavern Owner Injured In Cycle Crash

Separate motorcycle accidents injured a Buchanan tavern owner and a Three Oaks man over the weekend.

Herbert Jesswein, 35, 104 Range Line road, Berrien Springs, the owner of Herb's Place, a Buchanan tavern, was reported in "very grave" condition this morning at Pawling hospital in Niles as the result of being thrown from his motorcycle north of Niles about 8:45 last night.

Bobby Johnson, 28, Warren Woods road, Three Oaks, was reported in fair condition at St.

Anthony's hospital in Michigan City, Ind., today, from injuries he received when his motorcycle struck a car near New Buffalo, about 11:30 p.m., Saturday.

Jesswein suffered massive head injuries when he was thrown from his motorcycle after it hit a railroad tie at the abandoned Penn Central railroad terminal grounds in Niles township, according to state police from the Niles post.

Police said Jesswein tumbled some 100 feet after being tossed from his motorcycle.

State police from the New Buffalo post said they were told that Johnson was driving his motorcycle without lights on the shoulder of US-12 when it ran into a car, driven by Miss Connie Wilson, 17, Livingston road, Bridgman, that was being turned into a private driveway.

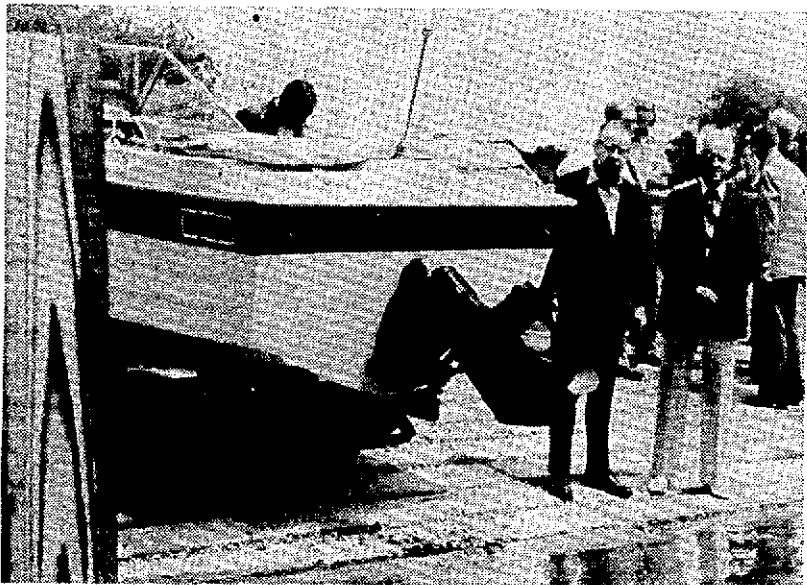

Police said Miss Wilson reported she did not see the oncoming motorcycle until it was too late to avoid a collision.

She was not injured, police said. The accident remains under investigation. No citations were issued, officers added.

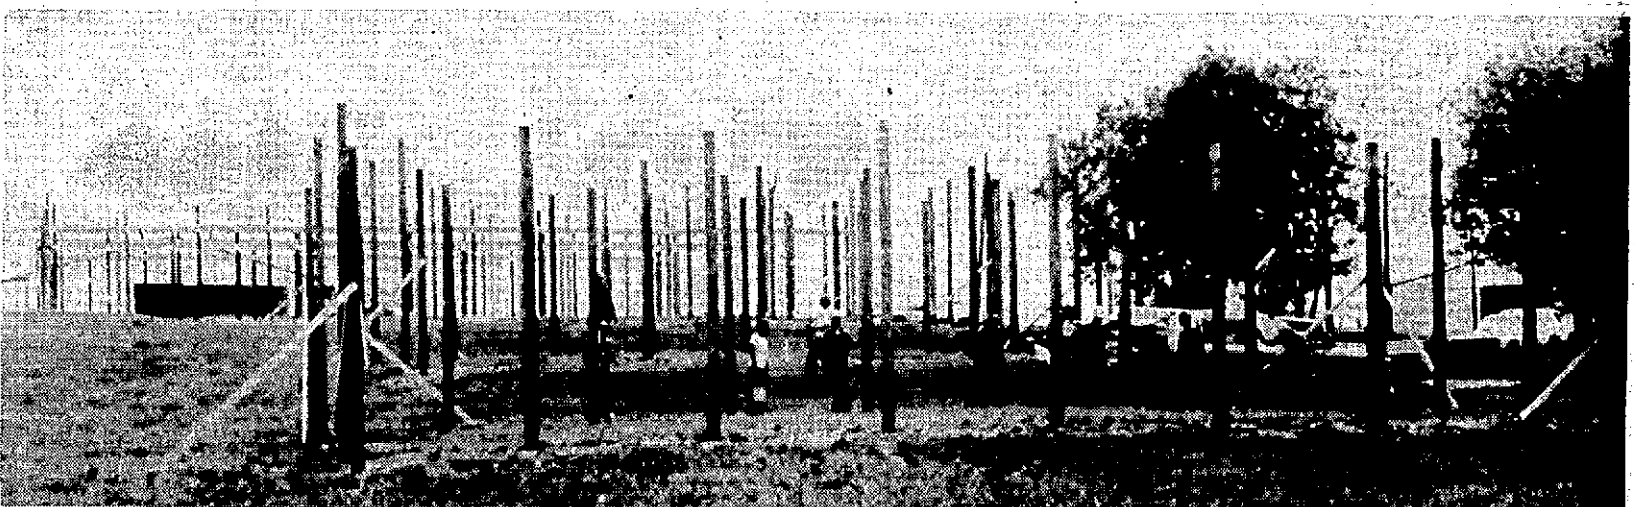

Balloonist To Tackle Lake Erie

AWARD WINNER: Cristina Page, graduating Coloma high school senior, received school's Green and Gold award yesterday during commencement. She is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Page, 7730 Hagar Shore road, Coloma, and was among 172 graduating seniors. Award is given annually to senior judged best by school in citizenship, leadership and accomplishment during school career.

HARBOR BEACH, Mich. (AP) — Balloonist Bob Sparks is taking on another of the Great Lakes today, drifting over Lake Erie from Chatham, Ont., to somewhere near Ashtabula, Ohio. The 39-year-old Gladstone, N.J., aeronaut ballooned across Lake Michigan last weekend and over Lake Huron Sunday.

DEDICATE PARK: South Haven and state officials were on hand to dedicate South Haven's new Black River park Saturday afternoon. City Manager Albert Pierce, next to boat, and Volar Miller, state waterways commission official, beside him, took part in formal launching of first boat from facility. Boat was owned by Marty Fishman, Lincolnwood, Ill. Park includes two boat launching ramps, tennis courts and picnic area. (Tom Renner area)

HORSE BARN CONSTRUCTION: Volunteers from all over Van Buren county showed up at Van Buren county youth fairgrounds over weekend to erect upright posts for five pole barns to house horses. Project of the horse council of Van Buren county 4-H clubs, is expected to be completed in time for this year's fair, July 21-26, according to Horace Martin, Bloomingdale, general foreman of project. Martin said total cost of buildings will be around $12,000, thanks to help of volunteer labor. Pole barn shelters will have metal roofs, and canvas drop curtains for sides. Two buildings will be 30 by 96 feet and other three will be 30 by 64 feet. Buildings will house some 250 horses. Martin said volunteer help will save between $7,000 and $8,000 on project. Part of project cost has been raised through various horse council auctions. (George Swift photo)

Boston Not Fazed By 'Gay' Legislator

By SEYMOUR M. HYMAN
Associated Press Writer
BOSTON (AP) — The nation's second-oldest legislative body appears unruffled by the presence of the nation's first avowed homosexual state legislator.

"Other than knowing she's a gay person, it really doesn't affect me," says Rep. William F. Hogan, D-Everett, a conservative mainstay of the Massachusetts House of Representatives. "She minds her own business and she does her job. She's a person I can talk to without feeling any trepidation whatsoever."

For Elaine Noble, Pennsylvania miner's daughter and most visible member of Boston's gay community, her first five months in the legislature have been an eye-opener.

"This is a group of people, this is a process, by which the most unlikely people can come together and talk," she said. "You have to listen to all different points of view. It's wild, really wild."

Part of the mutual acceptance seems to come from Miss Noble's insistence that "I was a candidate who was gay, not a gay candidate."

As the first admitted homosexual legislator, she has somewhat of a statewide constituency that goes beyond the Sixth Suffolk District. She represents in Boston's Back Bay area. Her own district is made up of students, elderly persons, blue collar workers and a mix of 20 nationalities.

She has pushed actively for homosexual rights legislation, but one of her main contributions toward that cause, according to her friend Rep. Barney Frank, D-Boston, is simply that she's there — "a sensible and intelligent human being who knows how to get along with people...not a stereotype."

In her words: "I'm extending to all the legislators sort of an invitation to change their perspective a little bit. I'm not interested in ramming anything down their throats, but I am interested in changing their perspective."

Miss Noble, 30, says she came to terms with her own lesbianism after her graduation from Boston University, when she took a job at Colby Junior College in New Hampshire.

"It was a totally female environment. God, it was great, a fantastic experience," she said.

Since then, she has taught speech at Emerson College, earned a master's degree in education from Harvard, produced a radio show called Gay Way, and continued the community work that led to her candidacy for the House.

When she joined the Massachusetts House, she joined a body that had voted down a homosexual rights bill three years running — last year by a 125-to-85 margin.

She joined a body that included among its senior members Rep. William A. Connell Jr., D-Weymouth, who opposed a gay rights bill this month, saying:

"These people are predatory, in my opinion...This bill gives encouragement to lesbians, queers and fags."

Miss Noble startled some legislators by her contention that there are as many secret homosexuals in the House itself as in society at large — 20 out of every hundred according to the Kinsey sex studies, she says.

"Oh, let's not go for that built again," Hogan said in response. "I don't accept those percentages." He said other studies say that "these people should accept psychiatric help. It's an abnormal way of life."

Elaine Noble is the first avowed gay person some of the legislators have met.

"Some of them will say: 'I've never met one before,' and I'll say: 'That's not true, you know,'" she said.

"Many of them have never really talked about it. If they want to discuss it and their questions are serious and appropriate, I'll sit down and talk with them," she said. "But if I sense that the questions are simply designed to titillate their fantasies, I remind them that I would not hesitate to go to the press room and quote them on what they've just asked me. That usually takes care of it."

Though they are learning to co-exist, the deep-rooted differences between Miss Noble and many of her colleagues are evident in her comment about their growing acceptance of her. "I hear guys saying things like: 'She's a smart broad,'" she said. "They don't realize how stupid they sound."

ICB President Will Head BUW Loaned Executives

James F. Murphy, president of Inter-City Bank, has been named chairman of the loaned executive division of the 1975 Blossomland United Way campaign, according to Robert Molhoek, general chairman.

Murphy has served past campaigns in the special gifts division, and in 1974, worked with a selected appeals team.

Loaned executives are recruited from local businesses and industry, Murphy explained. He said that management personnel are assigned as staff aides to the various soliciting divisions, and usually work full time or half-time for several weeks prior to and including the campaign.

In 1974, five loaned executives conducted daily analysis of campaign progress. On occasion, the LE organized in-plant solicitations, arranged for speakers, and assisted in training of solicitors, Murphy said. Their duties included frequent contact with volunteers at all levels of the campaign to insure that assignments were being completed.

Murphy joined ICB in 1959 and was elected vice president in 1962. He became executive vice president in 1971, and assumed his present post in 1974. Murphy holds a BS Degree from the University of Wisconsin.

Murphy serves a number of BUW area organizations. He is a member of the Lakeshore school board of education, a director of the Twin City Area Chamber of Commerce and Twin City Area Development Corporation, and is a trustee of the YMCA. He is a member of the Twin City Rotary club. Murphy and his wife, Joanne, reside in Stevensville.

TODAY In History

By Associated Press

Today is Monday, June 2, the 153rd day of 1975. There are 212 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1953, Britain's Queen Elizabeth II was crowned in Westminster Abbey in London.

On this date — In 1851, Maine became the first state to enact a prohibition law.

In 1886, President Grover Cleveland married his ward, Frances Folsom, at a White House wedding ceremony.

In 1924, Congress conferred citizenship upon all American Indians.

In 1941, Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini held a war meeting at Brenner Pass in the Alps.

In 1944, the United States opened a bomber base in the Soviet Union to carry out shuttle raids against Germany.

In 1969, the Australian aircraft carrier, Melbourne, sailed through the U.S. destroyer, Frank E. Evans, during maneuvers in the South China Sea. Seventy-four American lives were lost.

Ten years ago: Nearly 200 miners were killed in a coal mine explosion near Fukuoka, Japan.

Five years ago: A team of scientists at the University of Wisconsin announced the first total synthesis of a gene — a major step toward artificial creation of life.

One year ago: The King of Bhutan, Jig Singhi Wangchuk, was crowned, becoming, at 18, the youngest monarch in the world.

Today's birthdays: The exiled King of Greece, Constantine II, is 35. Former astronaut Charles Conrad is 45.

Thought for today: A good face is the best recommendation — Queen Elizabeth I, 1533-1603.

Bicentennial footnote: It was 200 years ago that the American Revolutionary soldier, Ethan Allen, wrote to the New York Provincial Congress that the chief importance of captured Fort Ticonderoga and Crown Point was as a base for an army to invade Quebec.

Q: I saw a TV movie with an actress in it named Tessa Dahl. Is that Patricia Neal's daughter? — K.S., Ocala, Fla.

A: Yes it is. She's 18 and her father is Roald Dahl, Patricia's writer-husband. Tessa has recently moved in with young Patrick Fisher, whose father is a British Lord. The Dahls are saying only that it is very, very difficult to be modern parents these days.

Q: What happened to the German actress Hildegard Neff? She did some movies in the U.S.A. and wrote a book I read. — K.L., Baldwin, N.Y.

A: Hildegard was stricken with cancer six years ago and as a result has undergone some 50 operations, including a radical mastectomy. Ms. Neff has written an account of her battle with cancer called "The Verdict." The book is a runaway best seller in Germany and will be published here in about a month.

bizarre plot in the first place? — N.P., Sioux City, Iowa.

A: Strangely enough even in these permissive times, Columbia Pictures is having a difficult time finding a star willing to play the extended rape sequence. Wallace got the idea for the book when he overheard a group of men on a train discussing the fact that they would give anything for one night with Elizabeth Taylor.

Q: Is my impression that actress Jane Fonda has been staying out of the headlines correct? — J.T., N.Y., N.Y.

A: Jane has been keeping a low profile and spending most of her time being a housewife and mother because that's the way her husband, political activist Tom Hayden, wants it. However, this may change soon if Hayden runs for California Senator John Tunney's Congressional seat. Don't think for a minute Tom will drag Jane along that bumpy campaign trail.

JOHN P. ROCHE
A Word Edgewise

On June 5 the citizens of the United Kingdom will hopefully demonstrate a certain degree of unity on the Common Market question. Any attempt to call this one, that is to predict how the unprecedented public referendum will come out, calls for greater powers of divination than I possess. To put it differently, it would take an expert at five-dimensional chess to make hard sense out of the present political shambles. As the last two elections demonstrated, the good people of England, Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland have developed lying to pollsters into a folk art.

Listening to the returns of the last election on the short-wave service of the B.B.C. was reminiscent of our 1948 Presidential election: the studio experts had it all taped down, but it came unstuck. A leading British expert on political behavior, who began the night predicting an overall Labor majority of 100, was quietly removed from the mound in the bottom of the ninth when it appeared that Labor might top all the other parties by three or four.

In the House of Commons you have roughly the following order of battle: Prime Minister Harold Wilson and a majority of his Cabinet favor remaining in the European Economic Community (EEC), but a majority of Labor Members of Parliament are opposed to EEC membership; the bulk of the Conservatives favor staying in, but a minority of "little Englanders" balk; the "Celtic fringe" (Welsh and Scots Nationalists) want out; and, finally, the Ulster Unionists are opposed to everything. The debate within the Labor Party has been particularly rough despite an agreement to disagree. An additional tickler emerged when the charge was made that the EEC was, of all things, a Central Intelligence Agency creation!

If Harold Wilson faces trouble within his parliamentary ranks, he confronts sheer chaos in the Labor Party nationally. All the organs of the Party in the nation are controlled by anti-market-teers, the Trades Union Conference (which exerts enormous power in the extra-parliamentary Party organization) is massively against Britain remaining in the EEC, and poor Harold Wilson found himself repudiated by first the annual conference of the Scottish Labor Party (he slipped out of town before the vote) and then by a special conference of the whole Party called to evaluate his recommendation of continued membership. His one success so far has been in persuading the National Executive not to turn the Party apparatus over to the anti-market-teers, but to keep it neutral.

With this picture of wild disarray as background, and the increasing bitterness of the civil war within Labor, it is now apparent that what is at issue on June 5 is not merely Britain's continued membership in the EEC, but the very future of the Labor Party. Originally Wilson tried to keep the dispute in a low key, but as the left-wing anti-market-teers opened up with their heavy artillery, he has unleashed his brass-knuckled aides, notably Chancellor of the Exchequer Denis Healey and Foreign Secretary James Callaghan. Since the unions are the hard core of anti-market sentiment, Healey and Callaghan have been forced, willy-nilly, to a collision course with the TUC. Healey going so far in a recent speech as to suggest that if Britain went bankrupt, union shortsightedness on the EEC would be largely responsible.

Whichever way the referendum goes (and one cynical friend has suggested the electorate might perversely vote 50-50), there is going to be an explosion in the Labor Party. Several dedicated, pro-EEC Ministers — Home Secretary Roy Jenkins and Consumer Affairs Minister Shirley Williams (both parliamentary heavyweights) among them — have flatly stated they would not participate in a government that left the Market.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Heads Higher

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market headed higher again today, rising the momentum of Friday's sharp gain.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up about a point, and gainers moved out to a 3-1 lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said the market seemed to have several things going for it. One key plus, they said, was a continuing downward trend in short term interest rates.

Another was word that Israel was withdrawing all of its artillery and half its tanks from an area 24 miles from the Suez Canal as a gesture of good will to Egypt.

And the Commerce Department reported as trading began that new factory orders took their biggest jump in more than 20 years last month while inventories continued to decline.

Today's prices included LTV, up 1/4 at 15 1/2; Babcock & Wilcox, up 1/2 at 20 1/2; Charter, 1/2 higher at 30, and Monsanto, up 1/2 at 64 1/2.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average jumped 17.29 points to 832.29.

Gainers outpaced losers by about a 7-2 margin on the Big Board as turnover accelerated to 22.67 million shares.

The NYSE's composite index rose .79 to 48.48.

The American Stock Exchange market value index surged 1.15 to 88.88.

'Fortune' Sees Upturn In Business

NEW YORK (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board's lowering of its discount rate and Board Chairman Arthur Burns' indication to Congress that he would expand the money supply are causing a business upturn, Fortune magazine says.

In the "Business Roundup" section of the June edition, the magazine said unemployment is easing and there has been an increase in production with orders for durable goods up 10 per cent.

Fortune also said the Treasury Department has found its borrowing needs smaller because its current receipts are $5 billion more than expected.

The magazine said that while new orders were still smaller than shipments in May, steel and automobile production continued to ease, but price rises in meat and oil threatened to erase some of the consumer's new purchasing power.

Bedroom Burns In Niles Home

NILES — Fire of an undetermined origin damaged a bedroom at the Patricia McDougal residence, 19 North Fifth street, Niles, late Saturday night.

Niles city firemen said no cause for the 11:49 p.m. blaze has been determined and that investigation of the fire was continuing. No damage estimate was set, firemen said.

Firemen said no one was in the house when the fire broke out in a bedroom closet on the west side of the structure and there were no injuries.

The blaze was confined to the closet and bedroom, but smoke damage was reported throughout the house, firemen said.

HOUSE COMMITTEE

Five Score Utilities

At Public Hearing Here

By STEVE SAGER
Staff Writer

Complaints against public utilities and their regulatory agency, the Michigan Public Service Commission (PSC), were heard by a special State House of Representatives committee in Benton Harbor Saturday.

The special committee is presently investigating the regulation of utility rates by the PSC. Five area residents complained of utility costs, service and or of PSC regulatory processes. They were the only ones to state opinions at a public hearing attended by a crowd of 25-30 people.

The hearing was in the Benton Harbor public library. Questioning citizens who made comments were committee members Rep. Howard Wolpe, chairman, (D-Kalamazoo); Rep. H. Lynn Jondahl, (D-East Lansing), and Rep. David Bonior (D-Mt. Clemens).

Also participating in the hearing were state Asst. Atty. Gen. Hugh Anderson and Rep. Bela E. Kennedy (R-Bangor).

Comments before the committee were not sworn testimony but were tape-recorded. Wolpe said the public hearing Saturday was actually the first part of a three-phase investigation. The Benton Harbor hearing was one of six being held state-wide by the special committee made up of eight state representatives.

Wolpe said the second phase of the investigation will begin next Friday when the PSC and public utility companies will be invited to testify at two hearings. The third phase will come later and will involve committee testimony on their findings.

Atty. Joseph Hartwig, St. Joseph, commented for nearly half of the two-hour hearing. Among other things, Hartwig provided the committee with statistics he brought out at a Feb. 4 public hearing conducted by the PSC to get public opinion on an Indiana & Michigan Electric Co. request for a 22.9 per cent rate increase.

An example used by Hartwig was that Indiana & Michigan paid a total of $109,000 in federal and state income taxes while showing a net income of $5.6 million. He said, "I've been in town (Twin Cities) for about 30 years and I don't ever recall the PSC over reducing (I&M) rates. They've kept them the same, but never reduced them."

Hartwig also suggested to the committee that they shift appraisal and monitoring of I&M from the PSC and have a separate committee under the state attorney general's office do the job.

Hartwig told the committee he'd talked to PSC officials about better auditing of I&M books. He said the PSC contended they did not have enough money or personnel for more extensive auditing of the books.

Other complaints heard: Sharon B. Wilson, of 1221 Lane drive, St. Joseph, complained of too much advertising on the part of I&M at the cost of the consumer. Sharon Wilson termed as "needless expenses" advertising enclosures with her bill, radio and newspaper advertising. She also questioned whether I&M's $3 million information center at the Donald C. Cook nuclear center, Bridgman, was really for dispensing information or just for public relations. The center closed December, as an economy measure.

Atty. Rick Feferman, representing the Michigan Migrant Legal assistance program, Keeler, told the commission the PSC did not investigate his complaint against General Telephone Co.

According to Feferman, about 25 per cent of his long distance calls from Keeler were not going through. He said the situation was not corrected after contacting General Telephone. Feferman said the PSC only took the word of the utility that the situation would be corrected and did not bother to conduct their own investigation. He said the situation got no better and that was part of the reason he moved his home to Berrien Springs.

Willie J. Mayes, 862 Pavone street, Benton Harbor, and U.A. Honka, 1521 1/2 Niles avenue, St. Joseph, both complained of rising gas bills.

Said Honka: "If all my other costs rise as much (as the gas bill) I'll be in rags."

Mayes said his bill from the Michigan Gas Utilities Co. had risen in only two years from $25-$30 a month to over $100.

New York Faces

Bigger Deficit

NEW YORK (AP) — A confidential city Budget Bureau memorandum says New York City's expenses are running so far ahead of income that next year's $641.5 million deficit will more than double to $1.3 billion by fiscal 1976-77, the New York Times says.

Arab Gets Tentative FDIC Okay

DETROIT (AP) — Transfer of controlling interest in Detroit's Bank of the Commonwealth to an Arabian businessman has been given conditional approval by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

Final approval of the transfer to Ghath Pharaon has been held up pending arrival of documents from Pharaon's office in Jeddah, Saudi Arabia, according to Alan Miller, FDIC executive secretary.

Pharaon blamed erratic mail service for the delay in delivery of the required documents. Pharaon is buying 80 per cent of the Bank of the Commonwealth stock held by the James T. Barnes family of Detroit. In February, Barnes said the stock would be sold to the Arabian for an undisclosed amount.

FDIC approval is needed under terms of a $35.5 million emergency loan it made to the bank in 1972 to keep it from collapsing.

The Barnes family bought its controlling interest from Chase Manhattan Bank, which foreclosed on a partnership headed by Donald Parsons.

Cigarette Blamed For Fire

Benton Harbor firemen extinguished a fire early Sunday morning they said was started by a woman who fell asleep while smoking in bed.

There were no injuries in the fire at an apartment occupied by Annett Phiefer at 301 Pleasant street. Damage was limited to a mattress and bedding and loss was estimated at about $150.

Fire Victim

ONEKAMA, Mich. (AP) — Ramona Carrier, 26, died Sunday in a fire at her home, Manistee County deputies said. Mrs. Carrier's husband, Neil, was hospitalized with burns and fractures, deputies said. Authorities said Carrier escaped the flames by jumping from a second-story window.

Disability Payment Rip-Offs Blasted

DETROIT (AP) — State workmen's compensation collected by United Auto Workers retirees is costing employers millions of dollars a year, says the Michigan Manufacturers Association.

In some instances, retirees who receive both disability settlements and pension benefits can wind up with more income than when they were working fulltime, the association said. It called for changes in the state law.

UAW officials said their members are merely taking advantage of the legal benefits available to workers whose health was damaged by factory work.

"Anyone who works in an auto plant is constantly breathing harmful chemicals and smoke. If the companies had done something about conditions years ago, they wouldn't be crying today," said Frank Runnels, president of UAW Local 22 at the Cadillac plant in Detroit.

Seventy-per cent of the retirees at Cadillac apply for workmen's compensation. Runnels said his local advises all retirees that "based on medical fact, they are probably entitled to workmen's compensation under the law."

The effort to change the law is being backed by General Motors, Ford Motor and Chrysler. The companies' main objection is to what they call dual payment of benefits — pensions and workmen's compensation.

The manufacturer's association said a recent study showed almost one-quarter of compensation payments made in Michigan are going to retirees.

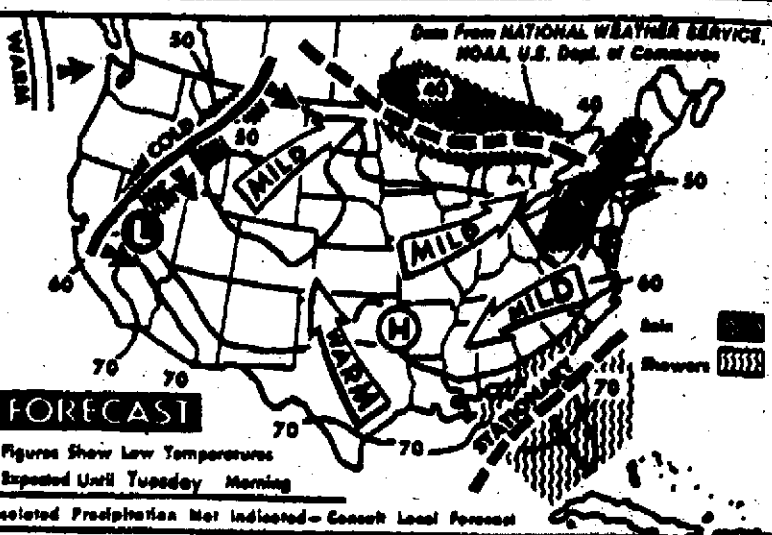

GM Vice Chairman Richard Terrell says administrative and court rulings over the years have distorted workmen's compensation from a simple voluntary payment procedure to a "complex, cumbersome, adversary-ridden system."

The law originally was intended to compensate workers who suffered occupational injuries or diseases for lost wages and medical treatment. The law now provides for payment of up to two-thirds of a worker's salary.

A UAW spokesman said there is no need to change the law. "There is a careful system for adjudication of workmen's compensation claims. Any employer who thinks a claim is unjust can contest it in the courts," he said.

Criticism of the law, he said, "is in effect criticism of the courts."

The auto companies said claim settlements are reached in most cases before they go to litigation. Company officials say they feel the deck would be stacked against them if they went before a compensation referee or appeal board.

NEW BUFFALO TOWNSHIP

Water Master Plan Engineers Selected

NEW BUFFALO — The engineering firm of Williams & Works and associates, Grand Rapids, was selected by the New Buffalo township board in special session Saturday to develop a master water plan for the township.

Nine engineering firms submitted proposals for the project in early May, and all of the firms were evaluated on a point system set up by the township's evaluating committee, according to Joseph Svehla, township supervisor.

The evaluating committee, composed of Svehla, Edward Ohime, township clerk, and Frank Cermak, trustee, narrowed its selection to three firms, whose engineers were then called in for interviews.

Svehla said a secret ballot determined the final selection. He said Williams &

Works and associates had received the highest rating of the evaluating committee and consideration was also given to the size of the firm and how much personal interest the firm would take in the proposed water project.

Svehla said the township board would meet with representatives of the firm Monday, June 9, to negotiate a contract. No cost figure was revealed. The other two firms in the running were Alpha Engineering, South Haven, and Richard H. Kraft, Flint.

In other areas, the board agreed to comply with a letter from the Berrien county road commission advising the board to relocate its eight proposed waste containers farther away from roads in the township, for safety and health reasons.

Andrews Is Awarded U.S. Science Grant

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The National Science Foundation has awarded Andrews university here an $11,400 grant for equipment for a new fluid mechanics laboratory. The laboratory, to be ready for use within two years, will be housed on the third floor of the science building.

AU will match the NSF grant for a total project cost of $22,800. Space for the facility was allowed for when the science building was under construction.

The applied fluid mechanics class in the department of industrial and engineering technology will use the lab.

The equipment in the lab will include a hydraulic test bench, hydraulic demonstration channel, dam spillways and weirs, a device for determining friction losses in pipe configurations, a pump turbine, viscosity measuring equipment, and a series of 8 millimeter film loops on fluid mechanics. Harold H. Lang, chairman of the engineering department, has charge of setting up the new facility.

The NSF grant was awarded under the Instructional Equipment program, set up to improve undergraduate science instruction.
